

ONE KILLED, 1 SHOT IN RIOT

OUTCOME IN MARYLAND STILL IN DOUBT

Coolidge Is Again Winner of Massachusetts Fight By Big Majority

OHIO 'DRYS' TRIUMPH IN STATE MEASURE

Peace Treaty Ratification Proves Large Issue of Kentucky Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Two Republican and two Democratic governors were chosen in yesterday's elections, fairly complete returns today indicated, while the battle in a fifth state, Maryland, was close with both sides claiming victory.

Governor Calvin Coolidge, Republican, was re-elected in Massachusetts over Richard H. Long by an overwhelming majority. The Boston police strike, denounced by Coolidge, figured prominently in the campaign.

Edwin P. Morrow, Republican, defeated Governor Black, Democrat, in Kentucky, after a hot campaign, in which ratification of the peace treaty in its present form was an issue.

Mississippi elected Lee M. Russell, Democrat, governor, by its usual Democratic majority.

Bugbee Probably Beaten

Edward I. Edwards, Democrat, opposed to prohibition, apparently has defeated Newton A. K. Bugbee, Republican, for governor in New Jersey.

Both sides claimed victory today in the Maryland election. Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, carried Baltimore by 1700. Republicans claimed their candidate, Harry Nice, has wiped out this lead in the country districts.

New York City, in municipal and county elections, defeated Tammany candidates for a majority of important offices. Joseph Newburger, Republican, defeated Irwin Untermyer, Tammany Democrat, for supreme court justice in the central fight.

Ohio "drys" triumphed over the "wets" in four state measures, including propositions to repeal the state prohibition amendment and Ohio's ratification of the federal amendment.

Ohio Rejects Liquor By Heavy Majority at Polls

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 5.—Ohio again said "no" to liquor at the polls. She rejected it emphatically yesterday by a majority estimated today at between 60,000 and 75,000.

TWO REPUBLICAN, 2 DEMOCRATIC GOVERNORS CHOSEN BY VOTERS

Daughter of Rebel Leader Aguinaldo U.S. College 'Sight'

CARMEN AGUINALDO

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 5.—The University of Illinois has a new student who is pointed out as one of the "sights" of the university. The "sight" is not hard to look at for in fact she is very pretty.

VISCOUNTESS ASTOR DEFEATS HECKLERS

PLYMOUTH, England, Nov. 5.—The Viscountess Astor waxed almost proletarian in her campaign speech here last night. In the end American "pep" triumphed over attempts of hecklers to break up the meeting and the viscountess, somewhat ruffled, came through a winner in the first clash of her fight for her husband's former seat in the House of Commons.

"Don't give me any of your sass," the candidate shouted vigorously to rowdies who tried to interrupt her speech. "If you don't quit, I'll come right down to you. I've handled soldiers for five years and I know how to handle your kind, too."

The meeting started peaceably enough but before Lady Astor was well into her subject a number of rowdies began hurling questions at her, keeping up a continuous fire so that the former Virginia beauty had little chance to answer.

But it didn't take long for the Lady Astor's American temper to rise and she quieted the hecklers by literally out-talking them.

Before her main speech the candidate addressed a meeting of women.

ANTI-JAP MOVEMENT ENDORSED BY EAGLES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—The Los Angeles lodge of Eagles today announced adoption of a resolution which amounts to endorsement of the anti-Japanese program of the Anti-Japanese Association of California.

JOHNSON FOR SANTA ANA TO PRESIDENT, FIRST IN RUNNING

Gen. Leonard Wood, Governor Lowden, Taft In List of Republicans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and Senator Hiram Johnson of California rank first in the list of Republican presidential possibilities according to sentiment and general run of political gossip in Washington.

Gov. Lowden of Illinois is making a big impression with his boom and evidently has the support of those who are expecting new issues for the 1920 campaign.

Former President Taft is also gaining strength and there is a sentiment that he is better known and more popular now than when he was president. His attitude on the peace treaty appears to have won for him new strength in some quarters.

General Wood's boom is already well under way. He is being urged as a second Roosevelt and many Roosevelt Republicans are backing him.

Peace Treaty Issue

If the peace treaty is an issue in the campaign it is considered that Johnson will have the support of all those who flatly oppose the treaty. If the treaty does not figure, however, there is a feeling that Johnson will be left without a clear-cut issue.

Johnson is better known than Wood and is considered likely to be high man in the first ballot at the convention.

Governor Harding of Ohio, Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Poinsett of Washington, Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, Elihu Root and Senator Cummins of Iowa all have supporters.

There is much talk of a dark horse carrying away the Republican nomination. General Pershing and Herbert Hoover are the most frequently mentioned in this connection. It is probable that independent clubs supporting Hoover will be organized soon.

VETERAN, FORMERLY S. A. MAN, APPEALS

Giles Otis Pearce, the Sawtelle veteran who years ago lived here and whose bill against the estate of the late Theodore Roosevelt for the recovery of $300 and damages was thrown out of the federal court by United States District Judge Trippett, has filed an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeal.

The appeal of Pearce sets out a number of reasons why the court should not have ruled out the bill of complaint on account of the lack of jurisdiction. Under the ordinary run of appeals it will be a year before the appeal is passed on.

PARCELS TO GERMANY SUBJECT OF AN ORDER

A new order has been received by the Santa Ana post office in regard to mailing parcel post to Germany.

CELEBRATE ARMISTICE NOV. 11

R. L. Bisby Has Plans Under Way For Program at Birch Park

WITH R. L. Bisby as chairman, plans today are under way for the celebration of Armistice day next Tuesday. He was appointed by the Chamber of Commerce last night to take the celebration in hand.

He probably will have his plans completed by tomorrow. In a general way the celebration will consist of patriotic exercises at Birch park between 10 and 11 o'clock in the forenoon. There will be a program of patriotic music with Clarence Gustlin as director and speakers will be secured for patriotic addresses.

Residents of the city will readily recall the impromptu demonstration on the streets of the city when news of the signing of the armistice was confirmed on the 11th of last November. It was a noisy affair and the happy people gave vent to their joyous feelings by parading the streets in automobiles, tooting automobile horns and using other devices that create noise.

Will Not Be Noisy

Quite the opposite will be the event on Tuesday next, for the noise will be absent and the occasion will be one in which an expression of the hearts of the people will testify as to their sincere rejoicing that the strife of the war days was brought to an end.

The time is short in which to develop the affair, but Bisby has the faculty of moving fast in consummation of plans and the program will be one that will be fitting to the big occasion.

Armistice day has been declared a legal holiday by Governor Stephens. The 11th of November signals the closing of one of the greatest and most destructive wars of all history and the governor declared the holiday that the people of the state might properly demonstrate their joy and commemorate the first anniversary of the great day.

Highest price 25 boxes Old Mission, $9.65. Lemons, steady. Average, $3.05 to $7.40. Weather: fair, 8 a. m.; temperature 42.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The senate today defeated the La Follette amendment to strike the labor clauses from the peace treaty. The vote was 34 to 47.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A majority of the American League membership today officially decided that the New York Yankees finished in third place in the American league pennant race and directed the national commission to turn over their share of the world's series receipts.

DEMOCRATS GET POWER BY MISSISSIPPI VOTE

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 5.—The Democratic ticket headed by Lee M. Russell, gubernatorial candidate, was swept into power in yesterday's election by a vote of approximately 50,000 based on returns early today. H. H. Castiel was elected lieutenant governor. The Socialist ticket polled less than 10,000 votes.

Ex-Kaiser Buys New Castle Hopes To Stay In Holland Allies May Step On Scheme

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5.—The former Kaiser expects to remain in Holland if he is allowed to stay there and is making preparations for a permanent home in that country.

SPORTS EDITOR TRIES HAND AT HAT STORY

BY HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

(The United Press received a tip that women's hats were to be sporty this winter so it assigned its sports editor to cover the biggest millinery display in town.)

SOMEWHERE IN L'EXPOSITION DES CHAPEAUX, NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—As near as I can dope it out, women's head harness this winter is going to run the gamut from a plain knock-out to a riot.

When it comes to shapes and styles, women's hats appear to be as erratic as a preliminary boy in his first fight; and as for colors, they certainly are as wild as a bush league southpaw. The price tags resemble nothing so much as Willie Hoppe's high run in a billiard tournament.

There was one lid that sure was reminiscent of the home plate. It was five cornered, dust colored and had a little stickup fidget on the back that looked just like Umpire Bob Rigler's whisk broom. Of course, they didn't call it that, but there was also one that was a real grandstand model.

It had a concrete colored rim with an overhanging roof and a bunch of bird nest effects under the eaves.

Cap Like Athletics

"Isn't this one just too cute?" gurgled a Mary Pickford model, as she slapped a peaked cap like the Athletics used to wear, on her head, then pulled it over one eye—just as though she were going out to play the sun field.

For the golf incurables there was one model with a mast affair in the center like a niblick sticking up over a bunker with a lot of sod hanging to it. There were some others with a few blades of grass sticking up around the edge that made a fellow think of the 18th hole.

The favorite color seems to be a brown just like the derby Garry Herrmann sprang on the world series. But there are other hues, from a sort of auto-tire gray to an auctioneer's red flag with all intermediate shades.

LEADERS OF STRIKE ARE REBUFFED BY U. S.

Government Refuses to Act on Suggestion That Court Action Be Dropped

AMES WILL PROCEED TILL WALKOUT ENDS

Many Railroad Workers Out of Work As Scarcity of Fuel Is Felt

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 5.—One soldier has been killed and another wounded during a riot in the coal field near Knoxville according to word received at the state capitol today. The man killed was a United States regular and the wounded man was a member of the state militia. Confirmation of the report was received from the adjutant general. No details were given out further than that the men were on duty in the coal region.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The federal government today flatly rebuffed the suggestions of labor leaders that the coal strike might be ended if the Indianapolis injunction against it were vacated.

Denouncing the strike as a "violation of law," Assistant Attorney General Ames announced the government's determination to proceed against it in the courts "as long as it continues."

His statement came in direct response to one from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who declared that if the injunction were vacated he had an "abiding faith" that a negotiated peace could be arranged between the strikers and operators.

Ames' utterance was considered an indirect reply to the hints which have come from other labor leaders—intimations that abandonment of the government's injunction suit would lead to arbitration. It had a shattering effect on the "peace talk" which has been going around Washington for more than a day.

Strike Violates Law

"The coal strike is a violation of law," asserted Ames. "As long as it continues we are going to proceed against it in the courts."

"This dispute between the mine owners and the workers is an entirely different question which they can settle in their own way. The government cannot tolerate continued violation of law, such as the strike constitution."

At the White House it was learned the government is standing firmly on the proposition that the miners must return to work before abandonment of the injunction. A deadlock exists.

The coal strike is already beginning to affect other classes of workers, according to W. G. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

"Many hundreds of railroad workers have been laid off or are on part time as a result of the strike. One railroad has cut down its schedules to bare minimum of dead freight and is carrying only perishables and necessities."

Joint Bargaining Move Is Awaited By Strike Heads

BY J. L. O'SULLIVAN (United Press Local Correspondent)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 5.—Although there was an unmistakable sentiment among those in close touch with the United Mine Workers' headquarters here that the strike of coal miners would be of short duration, no tangible foundation for this belief could be found today.

No proposals have been made by the department of labor toward lifting the restraining order on condition

THE TYPEWRITER

Says Vicente Blasco Ibanez, the great Spanish novelist, who is now in this country, speaking of methods of literary composition:

"You can dictate a public speech or a lecture or something like that, but you can't dictate a novel. You have to write it yourself. A novelist is like an ostrich; he needs to bury his head in the sand. A typewriter is a great distraction. You could not write poetry on a typewriter, and you could not write a novel on a typewriter."

Maybe Ibanez will change his mind after he has been in America awhile. Certain it is that a good many American novelists—or at least, what pass for novelists in this country—have been written right down on the typewriter out of the authors' own heads, with their own hands. So have many American plays, and even many American poems.

This results largely from the fact that so many American writers have risen to authorship through newspaper work. Nearly all newspaper "copy" in this country is typewritten. Having become accustomed to this mode of composition, a writer naturally keeps it up in more pretentious work.

It is probably all a question of what a person is used to, anyway. One who has used a typewriter much generally finds that it is a great deal easier to pound the keys than to write by hand. In fact, the hand-writing of a typewriter-addict usually deteriorates for this very reason. The clatter of the machine soon ceases to be a distraction. And there are certain advantages in it that cannot be overlooked. The copy is much more legible and easy to correct, and has so nearly the appearance of printed matter that the author can tell better how it is going to look in its final form. For this reason even poetry is often composed on the typewriter, especially newspaper and magazine verses.

As for dictation, Senor Ibanez may be wrong, too. There is a surprising quantity of "good stuff" being dictated in this country today, fiction included. Poetry is not often dictated; and yet, there is a notable example that the Spanish author seems to have overlooked. Milton dictated every line of "Paradise Lost."

POSTAL SALARIES

Emergency legislation pending by Congress is expected to add $100 to $200 a year to the salaries of postal clerks, letter carriers and other subordinate employees of the department. The new scale will be effective from July 1, last. It is intended to help the postoffice workers meet the cost of living, and is precisely what it purports to be, an "emergency" measure.

The situation in the postoffice department is certainly serious. Postmasters everywhere report that their best employees have been leaving, because they can obtain better pay in other lines of work, and it is impossible to get capable men to take their places. This absurdly low rate of remuneration has been one of the big factors in the deterioration of postal service. The vast and constantly growing volume of postoffice business cannot be carried on without a large, growing force of competent and contented employees. With a crippled force, all overworked and discontented, it is probably to be wondered at that the service is no worse than it is.

Congress cannot grant this raise any too soon. It will be a tardy act of justice. Though it will cost the nation money, it will doubtless improve the service enough to put more than its cost back into the public pocket. Starving postoffice employees starve business.

FEEDING CHILDREN

The United States Department of Agriculture is working with various welfare agencies throughout the country to conduct a campaign against undernourishment and improper feeding of growing children. By means of charts, lectures, exhibits and the efforts of home demonstration agents and state colleges, these organizations are trying to get their message across to the parents who need it.

It is possible to build a foundation of good health in childhood which will carry the future citizen through all kinds of hard work and help him to resist heavy strains later on. It is just as easy to undermine by insufficient nourishment an otherwise sturdy constitution and turn out a human being too weak nervously and muscularly to perform his share of the world's work.

The poor child of the slums is not the only one who suffers from undernourishment. Many a child of rich parents is undernourished, not because of too scanty a ration, but because of an entirely wrong diet. In the well-to-do family the child is too often allowed to choose the food he wants to eat, and if he has been pampered from babyhood he is more than likely to choose the wrong things.

Parents know more than they used to about the proper feeding of children, but there is still a good deal of educational work to be done in behalf of the little folks of city and country, of poverty-stricken farm and tenement, and of great house on the avenue.

Better Speech week is no doubt accomplishing much good among the students of the Santa Ana schools. Scores of children who have never before attempted to place a guard upon their sentences are seeing their own habits of incorrect speech as they have never seen them before.

Get the Habit

San Bernardino Sun
Modern methods of banking are typical of America's democratic way of doing business. Rich and poor alike keep their money in the same bank and the dollar check drawn by the girl clerk in a department store on her small account, is honored just as quickly and with as little question as a check drawn by John D. on his account.

A deposit in a bank is the basis of credit for any man or woman. It establishes a personal relation between the depositor and the bank, which may be of value in many ways to the depositor. If he will ask his banker's advice before investing his savings in numerous schemes which are afloat today, seeking to get his money, he will in many instances be saved severe losses.

The banking habit is a good one to cultivate. It raises you in your own estimation and confidence in your ability to do things.

A bank depositor and a home owner are not good material for the Bolshevik and socialist agitator and herein lies America's safety today.

Teaching Play

Long Beach Press
Long Beach school teachers and pupils will enjoy, next week, a demonstration of the state's new policy of physical education. Capt. George Hjelte, assistant supervisor under Clark W. Hetherington, will conduct the work, or rather the play; for the play is the keynote of the system.

Instead of strenuous gymnastics and mechanical drills, the purpose is to arouse a healthy interest in games that will bring into reasonable use those muscles and organs in need of exercise. The plan has two main objects, and it is one of the secrets of the method that the primary aim appears only incidentally.

The first purpose of physical education is to improve physique. That goes almost without saying; but in accomplishing this, it has been found possible also to promote moral standards; and the games chosen are of the collective order, the participants depending upon mutual support for the success of their endeavors. In other words, brotherly feeling is stimulated; girls become more womanly, and boys more manly through following such sports as these.

Such, at any rate, is the theory of Professor Hetherington, who has developed the idea after many years of research in schools and universities, east and west. Time and practice may reveal defects; but the intentions are the very best.

"Get Action"

Riverside Press
All controversy about the disputed question set aside, there is one way, undoubted, in which the dead do communicate with the living.

A great man, oft-times makes, for an immediate need or occasion, some pronouncement, which after the occasion which called it forth, is temporarily laid aside and forgotten. Long after his death this may come to light. Such is chance, or fate, or justice, that it comes at the moment when it is most needed. And because it is founded on rock principles of life and development, it meets the new occasion even more fittingly than it did the old.

The words of Lincoln, Washington, Franklin, Jefferson have often so spoken down the years, holding the American people to their ideals.

The words also of Theodore Roosevelt, spoken in his prime, cry aloud to Americans of the duties of citizenship in this troublous period. At a time when the world is restless, ill at ease, squandering its precious treasures of time and power—a perverse generation seeking for a sign—how clear a call comes from a bit of advice given by Roosevelt to his Rough Riders:

"Get into action. Do things. Be sane. Don't fritter away your time. Create. Take a place wherever you are—and be somebody. Get action—but don't get gay!"

"Where Am I At"

Optimism Is Important

(From Pasadena Star-News)

The state of mind and of heart among the American people, during this critical period, is of the utmost importance. Keep the typical American out of hysteria—and the typical American very rarely is hysterical; keep the people thinking soundly and soberly and keep them sweet of disposition, not soured by cynicism or pessimism; keep the day's work in progress, and there is no problem, no matter how difficult, how intricate or how vital that can not be and that will not be solved wisely and aright, in due time.

Cultivate evenness of temper and emotion, during this trying time. Do not go to rash extremes. Be moderate. Weigh and consider. Look at all sides of every problem and issue before making up your mind. Do not be intolerant toward others who honestly differ from you. Trust God; have abiding faith in the integrity, the sound ideals and the good sense of the masses of the people. Do and be these things, and you will exemplify good and useful citizenship.

THE THINGS WE MEAN TO DO

(Ada Foster Murray)

When at some mystical behest
Life greets us with its first embrace,
And with a blind but growing zest
We learn the strange earth face to face;
Through orient clouds we love to trace
A shining pathway in the blue,
Where gods inspire our eager chase
To do the things we meant to do.

At noontide on the sunlit crest
The zenith glow subduces our pace,
But still that vision of the best
Blots out the petty things and base,
The hurrying byways interlace,
Pale, broken dreams the wayside strew;
Too swift the hours, too strait our case,
To do the things we meant to do.

The shadowy islands of the west
Grow rich with day's declining grace,
They proffer us the cup of rest—
The gerdun of a hard won race.
Life's latest hour we soon shall face,
And yet our restless souls would sue;
Grant us, oh, gods, a little space
To do the things we meant to do!

Ban Johnson Will Remain in Dugout As Enemy Confers

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Ban Johnson has his head below the trenches again.

With his enemies lining up here for the last big offensive, the American league boss was expected to remain in his dugout. Colonel Jacob Ruppert of the Yankees, Charles Comiskey of the White Sox and Harry Frazee of the Red Sox, the field generals who seek to blow Johnson off his throne, were gathered today for a "board meeting."

James Dunn, fourth member of the board, and Ban's chief lieutenant, was invited to attend, but he was expected to remain in the bombproof with Ban.

The belligerent faction is now in its last month to make good its drive and reach its objective. Early next month the league meets and a new board of directors will be named. If Ban has his way not one of those three will be given a place where they can cause him one worried moment. And Ban may have his way at that meeting as the club owners appear to be lined up five to three in his favor.

The recommendations were given by a cousin, Judge J. Henderson of Indianapolis, a prominent attorney whom they visited.

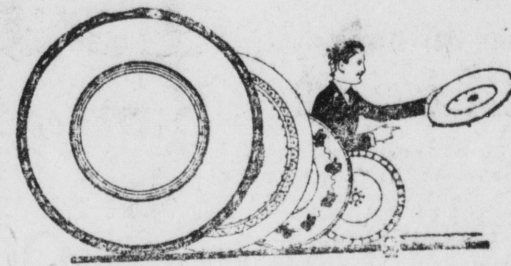

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin were in Washington from Saturday until Tuesday. They expected to arrive in New York today, where they will remain for ten days.

Talk on Indians

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Charles F. Smith, the music history class enjoyed a most enlightening and entertaining talk on the music of the Ojibway Indians Tuesday morning at the high school.

Mrs. Smith has spent many summers among the Ojibways, as her summer home is located very near their reservation on Lake Huron in Canada. She has been especially interested in their music and it was her privilege, a number of years ago, to attend the splendid pageant, "Hiawatha," which the Ojibways staged in honor of Miss Alice Longfellow, who was their guest.

Among American Indian tribes music reached its highest development with the Ojibways, who are noted for other superior achievements in art also.

Mrs. Smith has a most delightful way of presenting her subject and it was greatly to be regretted that more students could not have the opportunity of hearing her.

Miss Holly Lash sang two beautiful Ojibway songs in her very pleasing manner. Mr. Gustlin accompanying her.

That New Auditorium

If anyone has the idea that the new Poly High auditorium is not to be one of the finest to be found anywhere, that person has another guess coming. An expert on school auditorium construction has been placed in charge of plans and every detail and need will be carefully looked after.

Mr. Hammond called Mr. Phillips and Mr. Gustlin into conference with the architect last week to lay before him their special requirements in the drama and music departments, but it was found that all their desires had been anticipated besides special features.

tures that would add further to the success of these departments of the school work.

A stage large enough for the most elaborate dramatic and musical productions are provided, besides orchestra pit, dressing rooms, band assembly room, instrument lockers, etc.

Mr. Gustlin has requested that space be provided for the installation of a big concert pipe organ. He believes that funds for the purchase of a fine organ would be easily forthcoming from the citizens of Santa Ana and that such an instrument would constitute a beautiful and appropriate memorial to the khaki boys who gave their services—some their lives—to the great cause of democracy. It is an ideal work toward as the new auditorium is sorely needed by the community as well as the school and can be made one of our most valuable assets.

Latin Club Social

The first social meeting of the Latin Club of the high school for this year was held in the music room recently.

The Play—"The Return of Ulysses." Theo. Gilbank, Lura Morris, Helen Mateer, Ruth Langley, James Finley, Steele Metzgar, Robert Curry, Schuyler Biglow, Joseph Hayhurst, Josephine Harvey.

The Play—"Spartacus." Mary Hendrie, Virgil Hancock.

Good Shoes

Are Worth
More Than Money
TODAY

By this we mean that the greatest amount of money does not always procure the best shoes, and in order to practice the economy so essential to the times, it is up to everyone to get the most in style, quality, fit and wear in shoes for the price they pay.

Our Fall shoes are actually worth much more than the money represented—and not merely because they are lower-priced than shoes of similar grades elsewhere; this is due to the fact that we are out of the high rent district and do not carry an excess overhead in floor space and clerk hire.

But good leather is scarce today; so scarce that in many instances we cannot duplicate our qualities at any price; consequently, THEY ARE WORTH MORE THAN MONEY. You'll find them so.

SHATTERED WAR ROMANCE TOLD BY WIFE

Former Soldier Bound Over County to Hire Expert to Ascertain Pro Rata Shares Due

Revealing another shattered war romance, Mrs. Grace Hudson in justice court gave testimony relative to the failure of James Russell Hudson, formerly in the army, to support her, and today Hudson was being held to answer to the superior court.

Mrs. Hudson, an attractive young woman, testified she and Hudson were married while Hudson was stationed at Arcadia. After having been sent to Bakersfield, Hudson was transferred to Camp Kearny, where he was stationed at the time he was ordered to France.

The wife testified that while Hudson was in the service she received an allotment regularly from him. She said she received a letter from him written on June 24, of this year, in which he said he had been discharged. This, she asserted, was the first intimation she had that Hudson had returned from service overseas.

Mrs. Hudson told of the receipt of a letter in which Hudson stated in effect that if she so desired she might join him in Los Angeles, where they lived for several weeks. Then, according to the wife's testimony, he told her to go to Santa Ana and visit with her parents, as he desired to investigate a business proposition. She said he told her he would send for her. She waited several days, but received no word from him, she said. When she returned to Los Angeles, she said, she was informed that Hudson had gone away and did not intend to return. This, she testified, was in July.

Later, the wife testified, Hudson went to Santa Barbara, where he worked in a garage, learning the automobile mechanic's trade. She said she tried to get him to send her some money for her support, but that he refused. It was then that she swore to a complaint charging him with non-support. Hudson was arrested at Santa Barbara and lodged in the county jail here.

NEW BOUNDARIES FOR SCHOOL DISTRICTS

New boundaries, effecting every school district in the county, were in effect today, the board of supervisors having voted to adopt the boundaries as decided upon by J. L. McBride, county surveyor, and by W. P. Mitchell, superintendent of county schools. Changes in the boundaries were made in order to correct descriptions which have been in the county's records for years, and which were inaccurate.

COURTHOUSE NEWS

GRAND JURY TO BE DRAWN ON NOVEMBER 10

Service of Subpoenas Upon Thirty Men Is Begun By Sheriff

Proceeding under an order issued by Superior Judge West, Sheriff C. E. Jackson and his deputies today began serving subpoenas upon thirty men in Orange county, directing them to appear in superior court at 10 o'clock Monday morning, at which time nineteen of their number will be drawn to serve on this year's grand jury.

Those upon whom subpoenas were to be served are: Archie Henry, John S. Sheridan, W. F. Feldner, F. D. Cook, Roch Courreges, Willard Smith, Charles H. Warner, Oscar Rosenbaum, W. F. Crist, Robert M. Simon, I. L. Marchant, Joel Proctor, J. E. Kellogg, H. J. May, Hugh T. Thomson, Charles L. McComber, L. M. Gardiner, J. J. Harrison, J. E. Liebig, O. E. Gunther, George B. Killey, E. E. Campbell, George McNeil, W. W. Dungan, C. S. Crookshank, O. B. Bryam, W. W. Perry, W. E. Newland, Jr., J. C. Mitchell and W. G. Porter.

So far as known, there is reason for the belief that the 1919 grand jury will not find it necessary to make any serious recommendations relative to its investigation of the numerous county offices.

Last year's grand jury established a record in the speed with which it began and completed its work of investigation of the county's records and books and it is believed that the jury about to be drawn will be able to handle its work as expeditiously.

When the thirty men appear in superior court Monday morning, nineteen of their number will be drawn, and instructions to this body will be read by the court.

Under the law each juror will be paid $3 per day during the time he serves. Only men who have physical defects, or who have served on a trial jury during the year preceding, or who are not on the county's assessment roll, may be excused from service.

The foreman of the grand jury is appointed by the court. The jury appoints its own secretary and decides upon the expert who will go through the county's books.

BRINGS SUIT FOR $800 IN AUTO ROW

With the allegation that J. Stanfield is in wrongful possession of a Ford automobile, O. D. Farris, with Clyde Bishop as his attorney, will seek the recovery of the machine and $350 damages from Stanfield, through a suit which was on file in superior court today.

It was recited in the complaint that Stanfield on October 29 took the Ford without Farris' consent and that he refuses to give it up. The machine is worth $350, it was alleged. Because of Stanfield's alleged withholding of the car, Farris claimed he has been damaged in the amount asked.

Farris asks judgment for the return of the car, or, in case delivery cannot be had, for $350, in addition to the $350 damages.

According to Attorney Bishop, today, Farris and his wife had a disagreement, whereupon Mrs. Farris undertook to sell the machine to Stanfield, who claimed he could secure title to it.

CHURCH OF MESSIAH WORKERS ORGANIZED

Members of the vestry, delegates from the different organizations and from the parish of the Church of the Messiah, met last evening in the parish rooms to organize for work in connection with the nationwide campaign, which lasts until December 7th.

The city was divided into four sections, a captain elected for each section and four helpers for each captain appointed.

These are to call on each baptized member of communicant of the church in an endeavor to awaken new interest among the people. Their efforts will be confined entirely to members of the church, or those who do not belong to any parish or religious denomination.

Special stress is being laid upon the increasing of efficiency in all departments of the church and its organizations.

There are to be special meetings and speakers soon, though no dates have been definitely arranged. The campaign is to close with a Sunday school pageant.

In the absence of the rector, W. L. H. Benton, last evening, S. J. Cornell presided.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—"Chick Gandil will never play another game with the White Sox," said Buck Weaver today.

'Double Cross' Laid to Man in $65 Realty Fee Action

ALLEGATIONS that C. A. Latimer, former owner of a house and lot at 1319 Logan street, "double crossed" S. J. Cornell and John L. Tummond, real estate dealers in this city, are contained in a complaint which was on file in justice court today and through which Cornell and Tummond will seek a judgment of $65.

The complaint, which was placed on file through Attorneys Eden & Koepsel, recited that some time during the past month Latimer employed the real estate dealers to sell his Logan street property for him. The price was to be $1600, and Latimer agreed to pay the plaintiffs $65 as commission. It was set forth.

The plaintiffs declared that they brought a prospective purchaser, L. H. Lucas, to see the property, but that Latimer, "with intent to deprive plaintiffs of their commission for said sale," sold the premises to Lucas and did not pay Cornell and Tummond the commission they alleged to be due them.

LEGS MANGLED BY FREIGHT CARS OF P. E.

With his left leg amputated below the knee and his right leg seriously injured, Robt. A. Gimmell, P. E. brakeman, is at the Santa Ana hospital this afternoon battling for his life. He has lost a large amount of blood and his injuries are such as to offer little encouragement for recovery.

He is a brakeman on a P. E. freight line and the accident happened just before noon while the train was switching at the sugar factory on South Main. He was coupling freight cars when he slipped and fell under the wheels of the train. His left leg was terribly mangled and it had to be amputated. The right leg is badly mashed and cut, but the attending physician has hopes of saving the limb.

Gimmell resides at 151 West Sixty-second street, Los Angeles. He is about 42 years of age.

ALLEGED 'LAND SHUFFLE' CASE ON TRIAL

Evidence Taken In Action Begun By E. E. Cooley Against F. L. Lake

Testimony relative to the alleged shuffling of the ownership of a lot in this city was expected to be heard by Superior Judge Williams today at the trial of an action instituted by E. E. Cooley against Floyd L. Lake, and in which Cooley alleged that the defendant failed to carry out an exchange agreement involving the lot.

It was set forth in the pleadings that Lake, in consideration of the transfer to him by Cooley of a mortgage and a $1100 promissory note, agreed to give Cooley title to the lot. Cooley, it was set forth, on March 26, 1917, assigned the note to Lake, who failed, however, according to the plaintiff, to carry out his part of the agreement.

The action was begun by Cooley in the summer of 1917, through Attorney Clyde Bishop. On July 11, of this year, Bishop filed a supplemental complaint, asking that W. H. Elliott and H. W. McLeod be made defendants in the action. It was alleged that Lake, after entering into the agreement with Cooley, conveyed the lot in question to Elliott by a deed, and that Elliott in turn transferred the property to McLeod. The transfer to Elliott was made in April, 1917, and that to McLeod a year later, the supplemental complaint recited.

It was alleged that Elliott and McLeod took title to the property with the knowledge of the plaintiff's rights "and in consort with the defendant to place said property and the title, thereof beyond and where the same could not be reached by the plaintiff's action and to prevent him securing the relief sought in his complaint."

Lake had filed an answer in September, 1917, in which he said that at the time he executed the exchange agreement Cooley had indorsed the note in question as follows: "I hereby transfer and assign all my right and title in the within note to Floyd L. Lake." Lake alleged that subsequent to the execution of the agreement, Cooley added the words, "without recourse to me." Part of the consideration for the execution of the agreement, Lake set forth, was the unqualified indorsement of the note by Cooley. By the alleged addition of the "without recourse" phrase the terms were not carried out, according to Lake.

In an answer filed by Elliott and McLeod on August 23, of this year, they denied that there was any "fraud, concert, deception or intrigue of any kind or character" on their part in connection with the transactions involving the property.

Elks to Put on Farce at Temple for Xmas Charity

Santa Ana Lodge No. 794 of the Elks will once more break into the theatrical limelight, when, on November 18, 19 and 20, it will present at the Temple Theater a farce comedy entitled, "We Should Worry," it was announced today.

Everyone looks forward to the annual Elks show, which is always a treat for the theater-going public, and the Elks committee, composed of Luke (McLukey) Shissler, chairman; Jack (Diamond) Willey, W. R. (Stormy) Gordon and J. E. Cope, promises to "do things up brown" in every department connected with the staging of the production. They say that "We Should Worry" will exceed the public's greatest expectations.

The show is in three acts and brims over with "pep" and funny situations. It is said it will move along with such smoothness that it will make the audience forget it is watching an amateur show. Between the acts, to cut the waits, musical numbers will be introduced, opening with "The Serenaders," a beautiful singing and dancing revue, with a cast of twenty girls and two leading soloists. Latest song hits and dance steps will be introduced.

There will also be a stage and movie stars quartette, and other features, which, with good music and elaborate settings, will make the Elks' show one long to be remembered.

The show is under the personal direction of C. J. McNaughtan, a well known producer of amateur theatricals. He comes here highly recommended, having had years of experience producing lodge plays from Los Angeles north to Seattle, showing in such cities as Fresno, Modesto, Sacramento and Stockton. He also spent six months at Camp Lewis, when that camp was first opened, and "We Should Worry" was the first show given in camp, being presented by the Three Hundred and Sixty-second California regiment of the Ninety-first division. Many of the boys of that regiment were from Orange county and will remember the show being given at camp and in Tacoma.

The show committee announces that the purpose of the Elks' show this year is to raise money to take care of their Christmas charity work. With the closing of the war and the unsettled condition which resulted from throwing so many men upon the labor market, they have been called upon to do a great deal—so much so in fact that their charity fund has been practically exhausted, and they are taking this method of replenishing it. There are also a thousand or fifteen hundred kiddies who are waiting patiently for the annual Christmas tree, which is an Elk feature each year.

"So, everyone should get behind the Elks in making 'We Should Worry' no worry," said McNaughtan. Preliminary rehearsals will be started at the Elks' Club tonight, and from now on the club will be a busy place.

TURNER'S FOX HOUNDS IN "THE LIFE LINE"

The Paramount Aircraft Special, "The Life Line," billed for the Temple theater Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will have a special interest to Santa Ana people. Fox hounds of the late J. A. Turner are shown in the picture. Turner had drilled his dogs for the scene at the request of the producing company and was in search of hounds to augment his pack for a moving picture scene when he dropped dead near Harper a few months ago.

Those who have witnessed the film in Los Angeles say that the picture is a fine one and that the "set" in which the dogs worked is a particularly attractive one.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT RETURNABLE TOMORROW

On application filed by Attorney Stanley M. Reinhaus, Superior Judge West today issued a writ of habeas corpus, returnable on November 7, at 9 o'clock, in the case of James Russell Hudson, who is charged by his wife, Grace Hudson, with non-support. He has been in jail since his preliminary examination yesterday.

ASKS WILL PROBATE

Through Attorneys Scarborough, Forgy & Reidhaus, Mrs. Lula R. Boyd, widow of A. M. Boyd, prominent contractor of this city, who died last week, will seek the probate of the will, which was on file today. The heirs are the petitioner and her two daughters, Margaret, 18, and Helen, 12.

COUNTY BACKS UP ON HOUSE PHONES

On and after November 1 county officials whose private residence telephone bills have been paid by the county will themselves have to pay the bills.

This is the result of a decision taken by the board of supervisors. The matter of whether or not the county should pay for telephones in residences of certain county officials has been before the board for several weeks.

County Clerk J. M. Backs wrote to the boards of supervisors of several southern counties, asking for information as to what was the practice in these counties. It was found that in San Bernardino county the custom was to pay for the telephones in the residence of the sheriff, in the residences of each member of the board of supervisors, in that of the county clerk and that of the highway commissioner.

The San Bernardino plan was favored by Supervisor Wassum, who made a motion that Orange county adopt the plan. Supervisor Schumacher seconded the motion, which failed to carry. Supervisors Talbert, Finley and Edwards voting "no."

The board then voted to discontinue the payment of all telephone bills rendered against officials whose residence telephones have been paid for by the county.

BIFF!

Stop jolting Liver and Bowels with violent drugs, but take "Cascarets."

"Dynamiting" bile out of your system with calomel and other sickening purgatives is all wrong. Salts, Oil, and Cathartic Waters act by flooding the bowels with the digestive juices which are vital to the stomach. Cascarets are different. They act as a tonic to the bowel muscles, which is the only sensible way to relieve a bilious attack, a sour, acid stomach, or constipated bowels. There is no gripping or inconvenience. You naturally return to regularity and cheerfulness. Cascarets cost very little and they work while you sleep.—Adv.

POINTS IN DIPPING SEED ARE OUTLINED

From time to time complaints have been received from farmers who state that the seed wheat which they treated with the bluestone-lime dip has given poor stands and poor yields. At the outset it should be understood that this formula is old and has been thoroughly listed in both field and laboratory. It is the universal method practiced in Australia, where it gives satisfaction.

In regard to the possible reduction of yield of the crop, resulting from the bluestone-lime dip, it is certain that injury to seed transferred to the growing plant cannot be detected beyond the seedling, or grassy stage, for the effect of the bluestone has disappeared after the first few weeks.

Any injury to seed which results in a poor stand will, of course, be seen in the yield if the stand remains too thin. Thin grain usually stools well. The lime-dip, following the bluestone-dip, is given to prevent the strong bluestone solution from injuring the seed germ. Where the germ is attacked but not killed, the bluestone causes delayed germination for the plumule, and even greater delay for the primary rootlets. This injury and delayed germination, the lime corrects in a large degree, failing only with those kernels which have had their seed coats badly injured in threshing or recleaning operations. Where no seed coat injury occurs, bluestone solutions even when concentrated cause no injury during the ordinary processes of dipping.

Injury to seed germination from the bluestone-lime dip may result from two improper methods of handling the seed. First, injury results to seed when the lime solution is allowed to become too blue and acid. When the lime solution becomes acid, the lime does not correct the caustic action of the bluestone. The process then becomes two bluestone dips, resulting in injury to the seed germ. When the lime water has become blue, it should be replenished with a fresh solution or heavily recharged with fresh lime.

The second possible cause of injury to seed from the bluestone-lime dip may occur from heating where the seed has not been sufficiently dried after the dipping. This cause of trouble may occur when damp seed is stored in a close room or bin during rainy or foggy weather. The butts of treated seed should be piled so that the air may circulate freely about them. The butts or sacks should be turned and re-piled until they are sufficiently dry to avoid the danger of heating. The better way is to treat seed early in the fall while the weather is dry and warm, when the seed will dry rapidly and surely. Well dried seed has been kept for more than two years with no reduction in germination.

It is hard, in a way to blame the Germans for looking forward to the next war when they have nothing but the last ones to look back upon.—Kansas City Star.

Yuba Tractors give little trouble.

Grand Chancellor Will Make Official Visit to the Santa Ana Lodge

Tonight Knights of Pythias of Orange county and number of visitors from lodges outside the county will greet Grand Chancellor C. W. Guerin at a reception to be tendered him at Elks' hall. The Grand Chancellor is making an official visit to the local lodge and arrangements are being made for making the occasion a memorable one.

A good program has been prepared, over which District Attorney L. A. West will preside. Short addresses will be made by Rev. J. A. Stevenson and J. C. Burke, and musical selections will be given by A. J. Garro-way, with Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanying him on the piano.

An artistic interpretation of the great play, "The Music Master," will be given by Mr. and Mrs. William Morton Rasmus, dramatic artists.

The program will be open to the public and friends of Knights of Pythias and the public generally are invited to attend and meet the head of the lodge in this state.

Guerin arrived here during the day and was taken in charge by the committee. The committee in charge of the program for tonight is composed of Dr. Fred C. Wright, E. B. Trago, W. W. Wasser, Earl G. Glenn, Frank S. Browne, and G. P. Campbell, assisted by H. G. Miller of Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus have pleased audiences at the various schools of the city in the past and are well known as entertainers.

OWNERS OF SEATTLE CLUB MEET TONIGHT

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—Stockholders of the Seattle Club of the Pacific Coast league go into session here tonight. An entirely new directorate will be elected.

Mike Kelly, of St. Paul, considered the chief contender for the manager-ship of the locals next year, won't consider the place unless he can buy at least a half interest in the club, according to a wire received here today from St. Paul.

Charley Mullen, who managed the club during the closing weeks of the season, will ask the local club for its price today in an effort to purchase the controlling interest in the club.

The 1920 manager of the locals will be appointed by the new president, who will be elected by the new directors tonight.

Red Cross Organized to Help Lessen Misery Everywhere

Hundreds of millions of money, given by some forty millions of Americans; hundreds of millions of articles made by many millions of unpaid workers, a dollar and a cent used for every dollar contributed, and billions of dollars of free labor for humanity—and even more than this brief summary—such is the accomplishment of the American Red Cross in less than two years.

A substantial but constantly decreasing surplus is reported, since the work has not ceased with the silence of guns and must continue until the world once more gets back to a normal peace basis.

The official report of the organization is not remarkable alone because of the outpouring of money, labor and supplies.

The human heart is not so desperately wicked as to refuse aid when demanded.

The astonishing results are due to the fact that able men and women in all walks of life have been organized and that the best of human talent has led in performing a work without which human misery would have been increased at least tenfold.

BIG SOUTHLAND VACANCIES MAY GRID GAME ON SATURDAY BE FILLED BY APPOINTMENT

Governor and Heads of University Will Attend Contest In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 5.—Indications are that Saturday's U. S. C. University of California game here will be the real "big game" of the southern California football season, excepting, of course, the East-West classic at Pasadena New Year's day.

Saturday's game will be a struggle between north and south. It will be dignified by the attendance of Governor Stephens and the heads of the University of California southern branch and by hundreds of alumni of both U. S. C. and the state institution.

Coach Henderson, of the U. S. C., is in his element this week. His gloomy predictions of defeat and loud wailings, which have preceded every game this year, are being taken at face value this time. All the "experts" are figuring the Bears as winners.

Census Supervisor Says There Is a General Shortage of Enumerators

Appointments without examinations will probably have to be used in order to secure enough enumerators to take the census in January.

There is a shortage of applicants for positions as census enumerators, and that shortage is not confined to Orange county or to the Eleventh Congressional district.

So says C. G. Rowan of San Diego, census supervisor for the Eleventh Congressional district, of which Orange county is a part. A letter to Postmaster Overshiner of Santa Ana from Rowan says:

The percentage of attendance at the Santa Ana examination was no lower than in San Diego and other places in the district. A large number here wished to take the examination, it seems, but strangely, they did not appear until it was too late—this in spite of columns of publicity given to the tests by the papers here and elsewhere.

Information I have received from other districts in California, and even from other states, indicates that the shortage of applicants was general. What steps will be taken to meet the situation I have not been informed, but it is probable that the vacancies will be filled by appointment."

INVESTIGATORS PLACE BLAME FOR SMASH

Conductor Orange Car Held Responsible For Accident on Curve

That an automatic block signal system, should be installed on the P. E. line between Orange and the point where the single track line starts in Santa Ana, and that Conductor Cullum was responsible for the head-on collision of P. E. cars on the curve just north of Main street two weeks ago, were findings of the representatives of the Railroad Commission and officials of the company following their investigation here.

"Billy" Lemon, special investigator for the railroad commission, had charge of the investigation, and with officials of the company went into the cause of the accident in a thorough manner. Their findings were made on the basis of the facts developed.

Operation over the single line is controlled by electric lights, stationed in signal boxes at each end of the line. It is the duty of the conductor to leave the car and switch the light as he leaves and enters the control. A white light indicates a clear track and a red light indicates that a car is on the track.

Cullum was in charge of the car coming from Orange and through a misplaced signal the light at this end of the track gave clearance to the car going to Orange.

The cars came together on the turn in the walnut grove, the view of each motorman being obscured by the trees.

WHITTIER PLAYS ORANGE TEAM ON FRIDAY

Hot Contest Expected In the Fourth Game In League Schedule

ORANGE, Nov. 5.—Friday of this week the fast Whittier football team will play the local high school on the home field in the fourth game of the Orange League schedule. Whittier, which lost to Santa Ana by a wide margin, upset all dope two weeks ago by defeating San Diego. The Orange team lost to Santa Ana but held Fullerton to less than half the score that Santa Ana was defeated by. Dope this season seems to be a tangled affair but the home team should win in Friday's contest. The Whittier team is reported to be "lame and sore" and as full of tricks as a dog is of fleas.

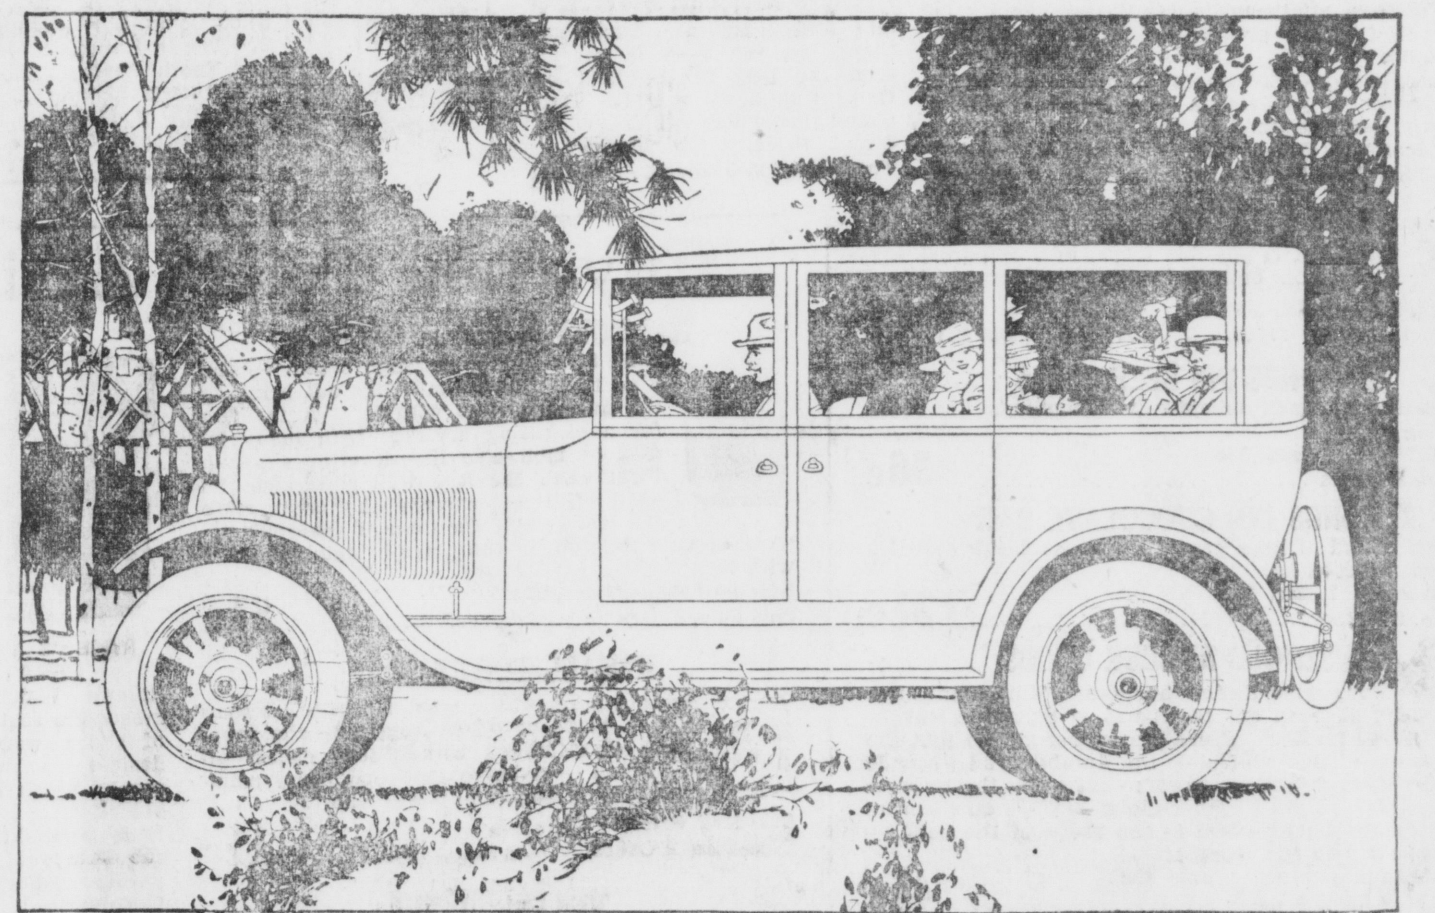

The local boys came through the hard Fullerton game with some bruises but all but one or two are now back. The squad and coach are pleased with the splendid defense put up Saturday against Fullerton and are already looking forward to the final Thanksgiving game with the Culp aggregation with considerable confidence. Rumor has it that Santa Ana may be challenged to another game between now and the close of the season.

Friday's game with Whittier will be the first in which the home boys have met a team of their own weight, according to the dope from Whittier. The high schoolers tip the scales at even 150 pounds and every game had to concede ten to fifteen pounds to their opponents. Friday's game should be a hummer from all reports and the school boys are out to break the jinx of hard luck which has been on the high school trail for the past three weeks. Penalties at critical points and inopportune fumbles have been a discouraging feature of the last three games.

On the Tuesday following the Whittier game, Coach Overlin's team from South Pasadena will play a practice game on the Orange field and this week's contest with Whittier is being played on Friday for that reason.

STATE TO HAVE FOUR MEN AT NATIONWIDE MEETING

Organization of Farm Bureaus Means Much In Food Supply

Three delegates from California will attend the convention at Chicago from Nov. 11th to 13th when a national federation of farm bureaus is to be formed. These delegates, selected at the state federation in Berkeley last week, are: Dr. H. J. Walker of Glenn county, president of the California farm bureau federation; George H. Sawyer, president of the Stanislaus county farm bureau and member of the executive board of the state federation; Volney H. Craig, president of the Los Angeles county farm bureau, also member of the executive committee of the state federation.

Professor B. H. Crocherson of the University of California will attend the convention not as a delegate but as a state leader.

Change Basis
The principal thing that the California delegates will try to get through is representation at the national body by states rather than by the number of farm bureau members.

At the Berkeley meeting the proposed constitution and by-laws of the National farm bureau association were read and studied. The only objection which the gathering had was to the provision for representation in the national association based on numbers of members. This the California delegates will try to get changed.

California framed the state federation just in time to get in on the Chicago convention. New York, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota, and a number of other states formed their state organizations some time back. Delegates from these states met at Ithaca, N. Y., and drafted the proposed constitution for the national federation, and sent out the call for the Chicago convention.

The tentative constitution is an instrument for co-ordinating the work of the state farm bureaus just as the state farm bureau was formed to co-ordinate the work of the county farm bureaus.

The idea of the national federation as I see it, is to get together the various programs of work and co-ordinate them into a general one.

Benefits to Farmers
There is no doubt but that the national organization will give the farming interests of the country a great measure of power which they have never been able to exert before. When organized on a national scale the farmer's interests can be looked after just as effectively as the laboring man's are by the American Federation of Labor. That the farmers may even strike is one of the possibilities.

The situation among the farmers was well set forth recently by J. R. Howard, president of the Iowa state farm bureau federation, at a meeting during the Iowa state fair. In part he spoke as follows:

"For many years the laboring man in the city has been demanding more and more wages and less and less work. More money and less hours or they strike. Now I want to tell you that every strike reacts on the

Uncle Sam's Recipe for Whitewash Considered the Best

The use of whitewash on the interior of the cow barn, hog houses, poultry buildings, etc., not only adds much to the appearance but also much to the health of the animals. Whitewash is cheap and easily applied and while it cannot take the place of paint, it should have a more extensive use on the average farm.

The following recipe is one used largely by the government in whitewashing its public buildings and is highly recommended for both exterior and interior work.

Half a bushel of unslacked lime, slack with warm water, covering it during the process to keep in the steam; straining the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer; add a peck of salt previously dissolved in warm water; three pounds of rice boiled to a thin paste and stirred in boiling hot; half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting and a pound of glue which has been previously dissolved over a slow fire; add five gallons of hot water to the mixture; stir well and let it stand for a few days. It should be put on hot. One pint of the mixture will cover a square yard. Coloring matter may be added if desired.

It is more than to make up whitewash under this formula than some others, but for brilliancy and desirability it is considered superior to any other.

CERTIFIED SPUD SEED TOLD BY THE TAGS

The 80,000 acres of potatoes grown annually in California require considerable more than a half million sacks of seed potatoes. Heretofore this seed stock has been picked up by the grower wherever he could find something that he thought might meet his requirements. Often to his great discouragement and disgust, when he received his seed potatoes he found them in many cases, of such poor quality as to be unfit for planting.

The seed potato problem in California is acute, but a way is now offered to remedy the situation. The legislature at its last session made a small appropriation to the new State Department of Agriculture for the purpose of seed potato inspection. An inspector has been appointed by Director G. H. Hecke, and it is now possible for any potato grower in California to have his potato fields inspected for the certification of his potatoes.

Upon all seed potatoes which pass these inspections will be placed a tag stating that they are California certified seed. No potatoes can be sold as California certified seed which do not bear this tag on every sack, and on potatoes which are not certified can be labeled with this tag. In this way the grower, dealer, and user of seed potatoes will be protected from misrepresentation. Further particulars regarding the way in which potato growers may avail themselves of this inspection service may be obtained by writing the Department of Agriculture, Sacramento, California.

PUREBREDS ARE ALWAYS FOUND AT PEAK OF MARKETS

Government Points Out Fact That Breeding Is Basis of Performance

Why do some lots of cattle top the markets while others sell at low prices? Why are some consumers willing to pay 60 cents a pound for prime beefsteak while they would reject from their table inferior steak at half the price? Why is it that some feeders finish their cattle or other animals more rapidly and economically than their associates?

Usually because "blood will tell." That is, the animals of the better breeding always achieve the more creditable performances, be it in the show ring, or at the feed lot, on the range, or at the butcher's block. Purebred aristocracy is not nearly as extensive enough in the United States and with a view to extending the fifth and kin of the first families widely over the country, the United States Department of Agriculture is launching its drive for better live stock, which was inaugurated October 1.

Purebreds for Profits
Purebred live stock is not the result of fable and fancy of the rich, for the leading foundation families of the various breeds, for the most part have been produced and developed by practical farmers who farmed for a living in either the Old or the New World. For example, Hugh Watson, the founder of the Aberdeen Angus was a tenant farmer; Charles and Robert Collings, who sponsored the Shorthorn breed, were English countrymen of medium finances, while the Tomkins and the Hewers, who were the fosterers of the Whiteface in Herefordshire, England, were merely working to produce beef animals of superior type which would fatten more quickly and cheaper than their predecessors. In a word, purebred live stock from hogs, cattle, sheep, horses and dairy cows to goats and poultry, have all been developed for specific purposes, which are intimately associated with the stock farmer's needs and requirements.

Uncle Sam's big drive for better live stock similarly is a campaign to provide for direct and urgent needs. Farmers with surplus feed should desire live stock of the best type which will most profitably and economically convert these grain and forage surpluses into meat, milk, wool, mohair, and eggs. Eliminating the scrub and mongrel animal, live stock of "no account" family or breeding is one of the greatest improvement steps which possibly could be undertaken by the live stock breeding and raising fraternity of this country. Uncle Sam is enthusiastically behind the project and it remains for farmers interested in stock raising throughout the country, not only to boost for better stock, but also to buy and use farm animals of approved type and breeding, in order that our present live stock population, heterogeneous, haphazard, and topsy-turvy as it is, may be replaced by superior animals of type and breeding best fitted to supply the market and most suitable to consume profitably the surplus crops of the American farmer.

Why Good Cattle Pay
Just to illustrate that it is about as easy to discount the benefits of good blood in live stock breeding as it is to try to dry up the ocean with a sponge, here are some figures concerning the butcher standards of a good and a medium steer. In the case of a good steer the loin cuts, which are high priced, constitute 16 1/2 per cent by weight, as compared with 15 1/2 per cent in a medium steer. The rib cuts compose 9 1/2 per cent in the better class of steer and only 7 1/2 per cent in the medium animal. The round, which is a medium priced cut, constitutes 21 per cent in a good steer and 26 1/2 per cent in a medium steer, while the chuck, a low-priced cut, composes 24 per cent of the good steer, and 27 1/2 per cent of the medium steer. The miscellaneous cuts in the good steer aggregate 13 per cent and only 11 per cent in the medium steer. These figures indicate that the good steer carries a greater percentage of the high-priced cuts and a lower percentage of the medium-priced and cheap cuts than does the medium steer, although the animals may be fed similar rations. This divergence in meat make-up at market time must be attributed to breeding.

Two shipments of steers which recently arrived on one of the large central markets also are of interest in disclosing the breeding facts. One lot of good steers weighed, on an average, 1,186 pounds and sold at $15.30 a hundredweight, their dressing percentage averaging 61 per cent. These steers carried 6 1/2 per cent of inside fat while their cost per pound, dressed and ready for sale to the consumer, was 22 1/2 cents. The medium lot of steers averaged in weight 963 pounds and sold at $13.30. These cattle dressed 54 per cent, carried 4 per cent of inside fat and cost 22 cents a pound when dressed and ready for consumption. Subsequently the meat

SANTA ANA MEN WILL BE TOLD OF BUREAU'S PURPOSES

Los Angeles Secretary to Address Chamber of Commerce Gathering

The business men of Santa Ana will have an opportunity to hear what the Farm Bureau is doing for progressive agriculture in the nation and also its relation to the business men, at the regular weekly Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce luncheon on Wednesday, November 12, at James' Cafe.

W. S. Rosecrans, secretary of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau, and a prominent farmer, will address the business men at this luncheon. Rosecrans is a business man turned farmer, and has a valuable message to every man in Santa Ana.

He will point out that with the organization of the California Federation of Farm Bureaus, the farmers of the state are entering a new era—one in which there will be a closer relationship between the farmer and the business man. "No storekeeper, banker or real estate man of Santa Ana should miss this address," says Farm Advisor Wahlberg.

H. B. Woodrugh, Orange county delegate to the state conference of Farm Bureaus at Berkeley, will explain the new state organization of farmers.

Those who want to go should reserve plates early, for a capacity attendance is expected.

NAPIER GRASS WILL GROW IN THIS STATE

Many requests have been received from parts of California this summer regarding Napier grass or Elephant grass.

A recent magazine article was misleading, because it failed to indicate the portion of the country to which it is adapted. The grass will survive the winters in California and the southern portions of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. Farther northward it can be grown only as a summer annual. Napier grass or Napier fodder (Pennisetum purpureum) is a native of Africa between the latitudes of 10 degrees north and 20 degrees south.

It was first cultivated as a fodder plant in Rhodesia in 1919 and subsequently has assumed considerable importance as a forage plant in South Africa. Plants were introduced by the United States Department of Agriculture in 1913, since which time the grass has been under test at various field and experiment stations and also by many farmers co-operating with the department. It may be expected to succeed wherever sugar cane can be grown.

The stems grow to a height of eight to twelve feet in clumps of 20 to 50 and become one to one and one half inches in diameter at the base. The numerous leaves are one-half to one inch broad and one to two feet long, and are rather firm in texture. This grass may be cut three or four times in a season and no other forage plant will equal it in yield or palatability.

Rent Profiteers' Victims Look Fondly Toward Farm

Pitiful Case In Chicago Is Typical of Many Others Suffered In City

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Rent profiteering and the high cost of living in the cities is bringing about a renewal of the back-to-the-farm movement, according to dealers in country real estate. Rent profiteers have the most to do with it, they say.

These victims are absolutely without feeling it is declared, and a recent case that came to light here shows just how far they will go to get a few more dollars for their property.

Mrs. Wm. O'Connor and baby "Billy"

William O'Connor, wife and baby lived in a flat here. The baby, "Billy," was suffering from tuberculosis and bronchitis. The landlord wanted the O'Connors flat for a tenant who would pay a higher rental. The O'Connors feared to move because of the baby's condition.

The landlord got an eviction order from the court. Despite the protests of health authorities, bailiffs moved the O'Connor family into the street. The baby was hurried to a hospital, but the move made his condition worse and doctors say he cannot recover. The O'Connors plan to move to the country.

DIRECTORS MEETING IS SET FOR NOV. 12

President W. D. Johnston of the Farm Bureau is advancing the regular monthly meeting of the directors to Wednesday afternoon, November 12. Many important issues are scheduled for this meeting as well as reports from the several committees.

PERSISTENCE IS BIG FACTOR IN WEED FIGHTS

There are fields in Orange County where the Russian Thistle is a menace to the value of the land. That Russian thistle can be cleared away has been demonstrated. It can't be wiped out, however, by careless methods. As with many other noxious weeds, staying on the job and keeping after the pest is the secret of eradication.

The first real campaign against the Russian thistle ever waged in San Bernardino County was concluded last week, according to County Horticultural Commissioner J. P. Coy of that county. A great deal remains to be done—in fact, what has already been done is really only beginning.

TO GIVE ADVICE ON KEEPING OF ACCOUNTS FOR FARMERS

Practical Demonstration and Assistance to Be Offered By A. N. Nathan

The practical value of the Farm Bureau is to be demonstrated again within the next few days when three farm centers of the county will be visited by A. N. Nathan, state demonstrator for keeping of farm accounts.

The fact that farmers ought to keep accounts has been declared repeatedly, and yet many farmers have hesitated about starting a system. Possibly some of them do not know how to make the start. If so, Nathan will give the necessary assistance and information for the start, after which the keeping of books will be a simple matter.

Farm Advisor Wahlberg has arranged for Nathan to be present at the Tustin meeting Friday evening, at the El Modena meeting Monday and at the Anaheim meeting Tuesday.

Tustin Meeting Will Be Held on Friday, Nov. 7th

Tustin farmers will be favored with a big center program next Friday evening, 7:30 p. m., at the school house.

H. B. Woodrugh, who has just returned from the state conference of farm bureaus, will report what the new farmers' federation expects to do.

A. N. Nathan, university demonstrator for keeping farm accounts, will give a chart lecture on farm book-keeping. Farm account books will be given to those desiring to keep them for the year. Nathan will personally help start these books for each farmer. All farmers are invited to attend.

A. N. Nathan Will Address Gathering at El Modena

There will be a good program at the El Modena Center next Monday. The school orchestra will render some select music to sandwich in between the addresses of the evening.

A. N. Nathan will show a simple system of keeping farm accounts—every farmer should have one of the Farm Bureau Account Books—it's free to any farmer who will keep it through the year. Come and hear Mr. Nathan explain the use of these books. H. B. Woodrugh, our delegate to from the good steers sold for one cent a pound more than that from the medium steers, which resulted in an increased profit to the butcher of despite the fact that the good steers cost originally two cents a pound more than the medium steers. Furthermore, the inside fat was worth considerably more in the good steers than it was in their lower quality mates. The well-bred lot of cattle sold for an average of $181.46 apiece, while the poorer steers brought only $128.08 an animal, a difference of $53.38 a head in favor of the better bred cattle.

Every Farmer's Opportunity

There is no possible reason why farmers and stockmen should waste their time and tie up and jeopardize their capital in the purchase and feeding or breeding of inferior stock. The supremacy of the better bred animals is practically infallible. They, other conditions being equal, will yield dependable profits which are as certain as the coming of day after a night of gloom. It does not take much capital for any farmer, be he the owner of few head of stock or possessor of extensive flocks and herds, to begin improvement work to better his live stock resources. All that is necessary is that he purchase and use purebred sires in the grading up and betterment of the progeny.

A report of the state federation of farm bureaus will be given by H. B. Woodrough.

A. N. Nathan, state demonstrator for keeping farm accounts, will show a very simple and expedient system of keeping farm books. The fiscal year for the farm generally starts after the harvest season. The Farm Bureau Account Books may be had at this meeting by those who desire to keep books during the coming year.

PERSISTENCE GREAT WEED FIGHT FACTOR

but it is a genuine beginning, the results of which already can be seen.

How far the ravages of the weed had gone is shown by figures showing the shrinkage of the alfalfa acreage in places to something like a third of that of a dozen years ago, when the thistle first made its appearance.

Hitherto it was generally held that little or nothing could be accomplished against the pest without the co-operation of Riverside, since the prevailing winds, during the season of distribution, set south across the county line and insured a crop of weeds the year following, no matter how much of a clean-up San Bernardino county might have made.

A year ago the boards of supervisors of both San Bernardino and Riverside Counties got together and had the seriousness of the menace of the thistle brought home to them by charts and figures, which resulted in a joint plan for its present check and final extermination.

The fight was begun in July. On the ground that is cleared there should be no return of the pest.

In battling the thistle a small arsenal of unique weapons has been developed, among them a harrow with the teeth bent back to loosen the roots and a section of steel rail or 8-inch iron-plated timber dragged behind to gather the uprooted weeds. The hoe, weed knife, plough and other modifications of the harrow are also used.

The alfalfa growers of those counties are fully alive to the necessity of an unceasing campaign; while the first and second cuttings of alfalfa in ground that appears to be clean may be free from the weed, the third may be choked with it, and the pest further distributed by this means.

STATE TO HAVE FOUR MEN AT MEETING

farmer and affects production. Let the men in the steel mills strike and it comes back on the farmer in higher prices for the implements and tools that he must use to produce food. Let the railroad men strike and it means higher freight rates must be paid.

"But the farmer has gone on working just the same. Nobody ever talks of reducing his number of hours. No one ever thinks that the farmer ought to have more wages. The cost of living goes up; and all over the country the howl from the city people is that the farmers are getting rich at the expense of the towns. They cry that the cost of meat and wheat must come down. They do not know that the farmer has to pay the prices for food and clothing, for tools and building material, prices caused by the high wages paid to the city people.

Look to Future

"Just glimpse into the future of agriculture as it affects both the farmer and the city man. For years there has been a continual drift of population from the country to city. Less than one-third of our people live in the country. Iowa is short 50,000 farmers right now. As long as the city man works for more wages and decreased hours this will continue.

"Heretofore the cities have been living on cheap food mined out of the soil—cheap because of the richness of the virgin prairie and of the advance in labor saving made by machinery. But the soil is being impoverished in many places. No new machinery has come in ten years. The future of farm products will depend on an increase in farm labor. If this is not found there will be a decrease in the food supply.

"This means that farm conditions must be changed. There must be fewer hours of work and better housing conditions so that the boys and girls will not be attracted to the city. You cannot expect to keep them down on the farm with a twelve to sixteen hour day when the city man works only eight. Less hours will mean more men; cost of production will increase because of the added labor. Cheap food has gone, never to return."

MILK'S FOOD VALUE SUBJECT OF REPORT

Largely because milk is a liquid, many people have not come to consider it a necessary article in the diet, and during recent years have either reduced their purchases of this valuable food, or purchased it rather reluctantly.

However, when the real food value of this substance is considered, it must be looked upon as one of the most nourishing of all foods. Milk is a complete food, containing all the food essentials necessary for body activities; its protein is of exceptional quality, and the fat in milk contains a newly discovered substance, essential in the diet, called Fat Soluble A. This substance has been found to be indispensable to health, and no child can grow and develop satisfactorily without it. Furthermore, this substance is valuable to the adult in promoting health and vigor.

This growth and health promoting element is deficient in the diet of one out of every three children, who are thereby caused to suffer in various ways. Fat Soluble A is found most abundantly in milk, butter, cheese and ice cream; the fat of the egg contains it, as also do the leafy portions of vegetables to some extent. Milk and dairy products, however, are principal sources.

Dr. Sherman of Columbia University, says that the average American diet should consist of at least twice as much milk, butter and cheese as at present. Dr. McCollum of Johns Hopkins University, an eminent authority on nutrition, states that there are no substitutes for milk and dairy products as food; they are essential to the growth of the child and to the health of the adult.

AFTER JOHNSON GRASS

Los Angeles County Horticultural Commissioner Ryan has issued a "Johnson Grass Warning": "Johnson grass infestations not now being worked with eradication in view should be taken in hand immediately by local inspectors to prevent seeding. Every day of delay at the present time makes more sure an increased area of infestation which must be attended to next season."

Education of Farmers

(FROM STOCKTON RECORD)

The Lodi farmer who is reported as unwilling to send his boys to high school because he is afraid an education will cause them to quit the farm and leave the old folks alone, has not paid attention to what is happening in the world. High schools and universities have done more the past ten years to make farming attractive to bright boys than was ever accomplished by the farmers in all the years that went before.

Agricultural courses in high schools and universities and the interest taken in farm work by trained experts have lifted farming in the eyes of the world, including young men, to a science and a place of dignity. What was once mere drudgery, work done this way or that way because dad's father did it that way is now vested with interest because the youngster learns exactly why in scientific terms certain proceedings on the farm bring certain definite results.

Pitching manure out of a barnyard to spread on the land is a dull, laborious business looked at merely as something that will make things grow. But when the lad learns that some soils need one kind of fertilizer to feed plant life properly while another part of the field might do better with some other kind, he begins to take an interest, to wish to experiment, to mix brains with his labor and so to enjoy it. When the whole world is made to be interested in the weight of the hogs raised on Brown's farm, or the number of pounds of butter fat Jones' cow produces, feeding hogs becomes something more than a dirty chore, and milking cows better than a dull, daily stunt. It is education, publicity, intelligent co-operation that are promoting these things and making farming seem worth while to brainy young men and young women.

Even the old farmer, the practical, horn-handled kind, takes a more decided interest in his work since it seems worth while to educated men to devote their lives to it and who give as much keen, respectful attention to what he has learned by practical experience, as if he had invented the process. In fact the whole trend of modern education has been toward the practical work of life, to mixing brains with the work of brawn and so leavening and vitalizing the whole lump.

All this aside from the fact that the boy on the farm has a right to an education and a chance to live his life his own way even if it lead him away from the farm. It is less apt to do so if he can find a way to both pleasure and profit through the broadening effects of a thorough education in a work that is one of the most vital in the world.

SPECIALIST ON LUMBER CARRIED SOILS OFFERS SUGGESTIONS ACROSS DESERT BY CAMELS

Believes Growers Ought to Have Auger Test Beneath the Surface

(By Prof. J. W. Nelson, Soil Specialist from the University of California.)

Every farmer who desires to understand his soils best and receive the best possible returns therefrom, should possess a six-foot soil auger. Practically all of the operations which go to supply the tree with plant food occur beneath the surface of the soil and it is therefore imperative that growers know more about the area in which roots feed.

The use of the soil auger throughout the growing season of crops and during periods of irrigation will give a clear knowledge of activities as they occur in the root zone.

It is also necessary that information be obtained regarding the depth of water penetration following each irrigation.

From observations made in certain parts of the citrus sections, it has been observed that much of the water is lost by percolation in the upper parts of the orchards in the light textured soils before the lower parts of the orchards receive a sufficient amount for their best development. This means a shortening of the furrows in order to conserve moisture and give a more uniform irrigation. Studies in the orchards also revealed the fact that about one-fifth to one-sixth of the total area is not utilized by tree roots during the growing season because of an inadequate water supply.

This unfavorable condition occurs along the tree rows where no furrows are placed. After the trees become large their draft upon the soil is very heavy and they should be given the benefit of the entire space surrounding them. If the water applied is not equally distributed the feeding roots are confined only to such areas as receive a favorable amount of moisture. The roots in the other portions of the soil remain dormant until water is added. This frequently throws the tree off balance and makes it difficult for the roots to supply the demands of the top.

To relieve the situation a furrow should either be placed down the middle of the rows or a winding system of furrows used so that the entire surface will be supplied with moisture. It was observed that where moisture was placed well up to the trunk of the tree that normal, fine, feeding roots were developed within one foot of the trunk while in other places where water had not reached closer than three or four feet of the trunk there was an entire dead zone in which no active feeding was done. This is a mistake, because it restricts the feeding area of the tree and thereby may cause a weakening at the time when the heavy load of fruit requires an ample supply of food and moisture.

In parts of Southern California the supply of water is inadequate to grow cover crops throughout the entire year and farmers in many places are confined to one cover crop during the winter months.

In view of the fact that there are lands planted to citrus trees which are not ideally adapted to them, it is necessary to stimulate conditions in such places to bring the best results. It is therefore imperative that the best methods possible be followed in order to secure as much organic matter as possible to apply to the orchards.

To this end diversification may become necessary in the citrus belt and farmers may find it profitable to carry a number of animals or poultry in order to reinforce such cover crops as they are able to produce among the trees. This, with all the organic material that can be secured elsewhere, would bring about the greatest permanency in citriculture.

Red Cross Surmounts Many Difficulties Helping Restore Homes

ALEPPO, Syria, Nov. 5.—Bringing lumber across the Arabian desert by camel caravan is one of the achievements for which Americans will be longest remembered in Aleppo. The lumber was used in the reconstruction of Armenian refugees' homes. When the American Red Cross arrived here it found many refugees living in the open, their houses having fallen apart through the removal of timbers by Turk soldiery for firewood. The nearest timber source was the Taurus mountains along the Euphrates river. An expedition under Capt. Edward Bickel of Seattle, Wash., was sent to investigate. It arranged for the cutting of timber and its transportation down the river on rafts to El Dair, in the desert.

Convoys of camels were then engaged and the lumber carried for miles across the desert to Aintab, Aleppo and Marash. Troubles arose with the Bedouin tribes of the desert, attacks being made upon the convoys and the lumber occasionally destroyed. Captain Bickel then arranged for a guard of thirty armed men to accompany each caravan. Thereafter the supplies arrived regularly.

One hundred native carpenters were rounded up by Capt. Bickel and set to work reconstructing the ruined buildings. As a result of this American energy and ingenuity, scores of Armenian families have been able to reoccupy their old homes.

Why Boys Leave Farms

Why did you leave the farm my lad? Why did you bolt and quit your dad? Why did you beat it off to town, And turn your poor old father down? Thinkers of platform, pulpit, press Are wallowing in deep distress; They seek to know the hidden cause Why farmer boys desert their past. Some say they long to get a taste Of faster life and social waste; And some will say the silly chumps Mistake the soft cards for their trumps.

In waving fresh and germless air Against the smoky thoroughfare. We're all agreed the farm's the place. So free your mind and state your case.

"Well, stranger, since you've been so frank, I'll roll aside the hazy bank, The misty cloud of theories, And tell you where the trouble lies. I left my dad, his farm, his plow, Because my calf became his cow; I left my dad—'twas wrong, of course, Because my colt became his horse. I left my dad to sow and reap, Because my lamb became his sheep. I dropped my hoe and stuck my fork,

First Address of Series of Six
Deals With the Birth

Rev. Stevenson Speaks at Banquet of Congregational
Brotherhood

With many men needed for the Pacific fleet, the navy is making extra effort to secure enlistments from this territory, and in order to facilitate enlistments and push the campaign here the department has assigned Chief Electrician R. W. Corson to Santa Ana to assist Chief Carpenter's Mate J. F. Hedrick, who is in charge of the local recruiting station, in his work here. Corson is a son of W. S. Corson, who resides at 901 West Third.

The recruiting station has been moved to larger and better quarters, now being located at room 224 of the W. H. Spurgeon building. Enlistments are now open for two, three and four year terms to men between the ages of 17 and 35. All trade schools are open and men who are interested in mechanical work can learn the trade of their choice by entering the navy. It is a place where every chance for promotion is offered.

"All of the ships of the Pacific fleet are in need of good men, and many vacancies now exist which are ready to be filled by good men," said Hedrick today. "Men can enlist for the ship of their choice and stay on the west coast, where they will be able to visit their home port while on shore leave to tell their friends about the many things of interest they have seen."

Corson has been working in the recruiting service for some time. He was located at San Bernardino until recently and for the last month has been with a traveling party of recruiting officers. He is pleased at his assignment to Santa Ana so that he can be with his parents.

The first of a series of six lectures upon the life of Christ on this earth was given at the United Presbyterian church last night by Dr. A. C. Dixon, formerly pastor of Spurgeon's tabernacle in London, one of the best known ministers alive today.

The first lecture was upon "The Birth of Christ." Another lecture upon some portion of Christ's life will be given each Tuesday evening until the series is completed.

The church auditorium was filled last night. In the audience were fifteen or twenty ministers who had come to hear and learn from Dr. Dixon. Rev. J. G. Kennedy, pastor of the church, introduced Dr. Dixon. Other ministers took part in the services.

Dr. Dixon's address dealt with the purpose of Christ's coming to earth.

"His coming," said he, "was the starting point of a great gulf stream of blessings that shall last throughout the ages."

"Without salvation, civilization becomes damnation. A country may be far advanced in civilization, yet low in moral force."

"Christ came that there might be mercy in heaven. God is a just God. Mercy in itself implies and is an injustice, for it lessens the stern mandate of absolute justice. Through the coming of Christ, forgiveness was made possible. God can show mercy to the sinful only beneath the atoning blood of Jesus. Confessing a judgment does not pay a debt. It only glosses it over and the fraud remains. There must be something more than admission of wrong. There must be penitence, a recognition of Christ's love."

"Christ's birth on earth made it possible for men to become sons of God. Sonship is heirship."

"No man can be right with God until he gets right with God. There is an act that he must perform. When a man gets into the right relation with God he is sanctified by that relation."

"The person who would live a righteous life must submit to the limitations of its requirements. That, in a sense, means a narrowing of life."

Dr. Dixon told effectively the story of a farmer boy who went to New York who kept straight under temptation because he lived up to his mother's prayer that he "be as narrow as mother's virtue and as narrow as father's honesty."

has a lot to do with the easy starting of your Ford in cold weather, for the clutch being constructed of 26 steel discs is continually swathed in oil. Each half of these discs revolve in opposite directions and if your oil is of a sticky, waxy nature, it results in a drag instead of a snappy turn over, which is necessary to obtain the spark. FORESTS PRODUCE SUM
FOR BUILDING ROADS

For the first time in years the California district, including California and a small part of western Nevada, leads all forest service districts in the amount of its receipts, $147,995 having been collected for the quarter ending September 30. District 6, embracing Oregon, Washington and Alaska, was California's nearest competitor with $115,174 to its credit for the same period. Receipts for the whole Forest Service for the quarter totaled $511,466.49, an increase of better than $76,000 over the same period last year; and this increase was due almost entirely to the large volume of business done in California.

Twenty-five per cent of the California district's receipts—approximately $37,000—will be returned to the state for division among the counties in which the national forests are located. An additional 10 per cent is made available to the forest service (supplemented by other funds) for the construction of roads and trails within the state.

Yellow and black decoration gave the appropriate Halloween effect to the rooms and the evening was spent with whist, first prizes going to Ida Lanfair and Mr. H. H. Sykes, consolations going to Mrs. E. C. Conger and Mrs. H. H. Sykes.

Refreshments were served at a late hour and a large birthday cake was cut.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Lanfair of South Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Krebs of Arcadia, Mrs. Ross and daughter Elizabeth of Los Angeles, L. Jaqueth of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Conger, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Sykes, Miss Ida Lanfair, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dobbs and Miss Nell Dobbs.

A most enjoyable program was given at the open meeting of the Women's Club of Orange.

Two musical numbers by Miss Proctor were most thoroughly enjoyed. Judge O. M. Hilton of Ontario gave a humorous lecture on several of the well-known myths of ancient Greece. He first read the prose version of Polyphemus and Ulysses, then followed this by reciting a parody in verse written by John G. Saxe. The stories of Pyramis and Thisbe also Orpheus and Eurydice were given in the same humorous style.

The closing story was a unique version of "Babe in the Woods" by "Tom Inglesby," the nom de plume of a noted English divine and author, Richard H. Borham.

These clever burlesques of the ancient stories of our school days were most heartily enjoyed by the club members and their guests.

Mrs. Loetta Webster of 273 S. Center street announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Anna Viola, to Mr. Noah B. Strong, Friday afternoon at Riverside.

Miss Webster is well known in Orange, having made her home here for the past seven years.

Mr. Strong is the son of J. B. Strong of Banning.

After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Strong will make their home in Banning.

Mrs. C. A. Wood assisted by her daughter, Marguerite, entertained her Sunday school class at her home on South Orange.

Games and music occupied the evening, after which refreshments of ice cream, cake and apples were served.

All had a jolly time and two new members were added to their class.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sides of La Plata, Me., who have been living in Orange for the past year at the Honadel apartments were called home Saturday on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Sides' sister, who resides at La Plata.

T. A. Brown, who has been visiting in the east among his relatives since the middle of October, will attend the Y. M. C. A. convention in Detroit, Mich., which will be held November 19-23.

IRVINE SCHOOL IS SCENE OF BIG PARTY

Nearly Fifty Dollars Made at Affair May Be Used to Buy Phonograph

IRVINE, Nov. 5.—Ghosts, goblins, clowns and spooks filled the school house at Irvine to its groaning capacity on the evening of October 31. The party was under the guidance of the P. T. A.

The rooms were decorated in corn, jack-o'-lanterns, which were the only light, and posters, witches, owls, cats and pumpkin faces the children made.

The program was ably rendered through the earnest efforts of Miss Lederman. The program was as follows: A recitation, "Courtesy," by Dorothy Jessup; "My Paw Said So," by William Jeffrey; piano solo, Brahmes' "Cradle Song," by Adelaide Spencer; reading by W. Cornelius; solo by George Jeffrey, and piano solo by Miss Effie Jessup.

The rest of the evening was devoted to games. There couldn't be a proper Halloween party without fortune-telling and apple bobbing, which were indulged in.

Under the direction of George Jeffrey and Walter Cornelius a race between a Ford and a Chevrolet was run from Los Angeles to San Diego. The names of the intervening towns were carefully hidden among pumpkins, corn, flowers and other decorations. The side finding their cities first, which were written on triangles and rectangles, was the winner. Mr. Jeffrey and his helpers won.

Tickets were sold at five cents each and the large table with its bounteous supply of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, apples and coffee was very popular for the rest of the evening.

After nearly all the pie had been sold there was still one large luscious pie that was auctioned off by Mr. Bard. The bid was started at ten cents by Mr. McFadden and closed at $6.00 by Mr. Pankey, who turned it back to the auctioneer. It was sold for $3.75 to O. Staples. It was then eaten by many.

Forty-seven dollars and sixteen cents were turned over to the treasurer. This fund will probably be the start for a phonograph.

WHEN TO KILL HOG

A hog in medium condition, gaining rapidly in weight, yields the best quality of meat. Do not kill a hog that is losing flesh, advises the United States Department of Agriculture. A reasonable amount of fat gives juices and flavor to the meat, but large amounts of fat are not essential.

$500,000 GIVEN FOR CHILDREN'S CLOTHING

Jewish War Sufferers Board Answers Appeal of Herbert Hoover

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Promptly upon the announcement by Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American Relief Administration European Children's Fund, that 1,200,000 children in Eastern and Central Europe are without adequate clothing for the forthcoming winter, the Joint District Committee of American Funds for Jewish War Sufferers appropriated $500,000 as its contribution to the Hoover clothing fund. This sum was provided from money collected by the Central, the People's and the American Jewish Relief Committees.

It is stated by the American Relief Administration officials that $500,000 will be needed to clothe the destitute little folk in those regions in which the war left its greatest devastation. The half million dollar contribution by the Joint Distribution Committee represents only a part of that organization's effort to safeguard the Jewish children against the bitter cold of the next few months.

Directs Big Purchase

At the present time Felix M. Warburg, chairman of the committee, is in Europe directing the purchase of large quantities of clothing, shoes and other supplies, in addition to foodstuffs, to care for the hundreds of children during the winter. But because of the effective co-operation between the committee and Mr. Hoover's organization there will be no duplication of relief effort. There will be instead a more thorough and speedy distribution of aid.

Acceptance of the Joint Distribution Committee's check was acknowledged in this letter from the American Relief Administration, which makes impressive reference to the terrible need abroad:

"Your letter of October 15th, addressed to Mr. Hoover and enclosing check for $500,000, was received. We are taking note that this donation is contributed towards clothing for the children of Poland.

"It is with great appreciation of this generous service in a humanitarian cause that we accept this splendid contribution. It will go so substantially toward the actual prevention of death and the protection from suffering among those thousands in Poland who are powerless and innocent of the conditions which surround them."

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Nov. 5.—Geo. McGurk has purchased the house and two lots in Wintersburg where he and his family have resided the past two years, $850 was the buying price.

Mrs. J. R. Morgan commenced taking the minor census of the Springdale school district Monday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Atkins left Monday morning for their home at Brawley, Imperial Valley after a week spent at Wintersburg at the home of Mrs. Atkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sharratt.

The usual number of Halloween pranks were perpetrated here by the parties of youngsters who thoroughly enjoyed the evening's fun.

Miss Ethel Graham came Friday evening from Los Angeles, remaining at home until Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox entertained, as Sunday guests at their home, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilson, of Los Angeles and Prof. and Mrs. H. O. Ensign and family of Newport. The Ensigns attended services at the Methodist church in the morning.

Leonard D. Cady, brother of John Cady is expected here from Nebraska in January, when he and his family will take charge of his brother's ranch from which they moved a few weeks ago.

Quite a crowd of local people, patrons and friends of the Huntington Beach Union High School were in attendance at the school on "banner night." The programme given was a most pleasing one.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Graham are spending a week at the J. J. Graham home and the former, with his father, are driving to and from Puente daily while harvesting the walnut crop on the latter's ranch. Graham expects to have about ten tons of walnuts this season.

Mrs. N. E. Dwyer seemed slightly improved at the latest report.

Ivan Chumk has departed for Yuma, Arizona, where he will engage in farming operations for the next two years at the end of which time he contemplates returning to his home at Wintersburg.

C. N. Davis left Monday morning for El Monte to take up his position with the Randolf Marketing Company and Mrs. Davis and Orbin went Tuesday. The family will be away five months, the time of the busy season there. For the time of their absence their home in Wintersburg has been rented by Fred Conoway, who will take possession at once. Conoway is engineer on the Farrar-Slater-Worthy thresher.

A transaction was completed the past week whereby the twenty-acre home ranch of W. T. Slater was purchased by B. T. Gothard. Mr. Slater and family will remain on the ranch for the remainder of the winter. Mr. Slater received $650 per acre.

Walter Graham of Puente is plowing for Harper and Davidson and he and his wife will remain at the home of his father, J. J. Graham while the work lasts. He expects to be here at least a month.

The new gas line into Wintersburg is practically completed and all the residences with the exception of two or three have had the gas turned on. The installing of gas ranges has been the order of the day for the past week.

Mrs. J. R. Morgan and family were entertained Sunday at the J. B. Nunkervis home at Westminster.

Mrs. Emil Kettler has as guests at her home her sister, Mrs. Richardt and little son, of Oxnard. The visitors arrived Monday.

Anna Morgan spent Saturday night with her grandmother, Mrs. Alford, during the absence of the latter's family.

A Sunday school picnic to be held at Orange County Park by the local Methodist church is scheduled for next Saturday, November 8th. All are requested to be at the church promptly at eight that morning and those having machines are asked to take others who have no mode of conveyance. A truck will also be on hand to take a crowd and transportation is promised for all. Miss Clay's class is in charge of the dinner arrangements and will let each one know what portion of the lunch has been allotted to him or her to furnish.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham motored to Long Beach Sunday.

W. G. Alford, son Russell Alford and Clayton Alford returned Sunday night from a motor trip to San Diego county where they spent several days on a combined business and pleasure trip. Stops were made at Oceanside and Valley Center.

The bean harvest on R. L. Draper's land ended Friday, and as a result 4865 sacks or upward of a $60,000 crop was stored in the local warehouse. The crop was raised partly on Draper's own ranch and the remainder on the Golden West Ranch, which he is leasing. Draper has a full force in the beet fields endeavoring to get the remainder of his crop out by Saturday. Three tractors are plowing out, one tractor and a number of teams are hauling and seventy Mexicans are topping beets.

Fred Slater was brought home Saturday from Los Angeles where he had been at the Good Samaritan hospital for a week following an operation up on his limb. He is doing nicely and in spite of the plaster Paris cast which it will be necessary for him to wear eight weeks, he gets about the house quite well although he is not allowed to touch the infirm limb to the floor.

Mrs. Dave Johnson of Whittier visited Saturday night with her sister, Mrs. S. A. Stockton and on Sunday the two ladies were guests for the day at the home of their brother, W. W. Blaylock.

Opal and Ruby Vandruft spent Sunday at Huntington Beach at the John Cady home.

Velma Nichols was in Los Angeles Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Maddux returned Thursday from a ten days' visit with relatives at Bakersfield and vicinity.

Mrs. Elmer Gohard was ill at her home a couple of days but was up and about again Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Graham entertained as dinner guests at their home Sunday the former's cousin, Lee Gray and wife, of North Whittier Heights.

PRICE OF RACE HORSES HIGHER THIS YEAR

Peter Manning Is Sold For $21,000, Making Owner $20,000 Profit

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The outstanding feature of the fall in trotting horse sales has been the big advance in values, marking an upward slant in values that has been somewhat delayed but has at last arrived with a vengeance.

The hunt for horses for "next season" is a feature of every campaign's end, and this year as the grand circuit has drawn to a close the "speed merchants" have apparently tried to outdo each other in their efforts to corral promising material for 1920, regardless of price. In many instances, however, despite large offers, they have been unable to induce owners to part with their horses, they preferring to hold on to, rather than sell, them.

The star sale has been that of the three-year-old gelding Peter Manning, for which Tommy Murphy, the turf's leading winning reinsman for seasons past, has just paid $21,000 to his breeder and owner, W. M. Wright, of Chicago.

The story of Peter Manning is instructive and interesting as illustrating the possibilities of horse breeding on the trotting side.

Glendora Purchased.

Wright is a manufacturer of the Windy City who for a number of years has raised a few trotters as a diversion, occasionally racing one or two. From one of his friends, F. E. Marsh, formerly a breeder and proprietor of the Grattan Farm, near Chicago, he purchased a young mare called Glendora. She had been able to trot in 2:15 as a three-year-old, but did not train sound, bowing a tendon and only taking a record of 2:25 1/4. She cost Wright but a few hundreds. He decided to breed her to Azoff, two-year-old record 2:14 1/4, a young horse owned by another friend, J. R. Thompson of Chicago. Glendora's first foal by Azoff was a filly. She had wonderful speed, but was injured when young so was sold for a small sum, later coming on well enough so that she has won a number of races over the half mile tracks of Illinois.

Glendora was bred back to Azoff and produced in 1916 a bay colt—the now $21,000 Peter Manning. Peter was gelded and nothing was done with him until last fall. He was then partially broken and roughed it through the winter. Last March Harry Putnam, who trains for Wright, took him in hand and finished breaking him. In the process Peter developed indications of great speed so Harry went at him to find out how much. As he was perfectly green he could not be hurried too fast and it was the latter part of June before he trotted his first mile in 2:30.

Pronounced a Wonder.

From then on he "came" like a sky-rocket. In early September Harry started him at a local county fair and he won as he liked, trotting one of his heats in about 2:14. Then he took him to the Milwaukee races, at the Wisconsin State Fair, and showed him up, working him a mile in 2:10 and a quarter in 30 seconds—a two minute gait. This performance was witnessed by a lot of horsemen, who pronounced him a wonder, on account of his limited training and the ease with which he did his work.

Peter Manning was then shipped south to Lexington, for the Kentucky Breeders' meeting. There, one morning, he was started for a record and trotted a mile in 2:06 1/2, the last half of which was done in 1:00 1/2 and the last quarter in 29 1/2 seconds—a 1:57 gait. The time equalled the world's record for a gelding of the age (three years) made in 1918 by Easton, and the critics said that no trotter of the age had ever shown so great a flight of speed as did Peter Manning at the end of this mile.

Peter Manning, up to the time of his sale, had not cost Wright $1,000, all told, so he brought his breeder at least $20,000 clear profit. This is probably the largest amount of money that any trotter has realized for his breeder, within the same amount of time, in the past quarter century.

Los Angeles Woman in Poor Health Many Years — Is Restored by Tanlac

"Tanlac has done for me in just a few weeks what I have been trying for years to get other medicines to do," said Mrs. America Renaker, who lives at 1269 West 36th St., Los Angeles, Cal., while talking to a Tanlac representative the other day.

"My health has been very poor for a great many years," continued Mrs. Renaker, "but for the past six years my condition has been exceptionally bad. I had stomach trouble and indigestion in the worst way, and everything I ate disagreed with me. When I commenced taking Tanlac I had lost at least fifty pounds in weight and was so weak and run down that I was hardly able to get about at all. My nerves were in terrible condition and very often I would lie awake all night long. I had taken so many different kinds of medicines without getting relief I was completely discouraged over my condition."

"Tanlac had evidently not been introduced in California at that time, but I had been getting the papers from my home town in Kentucky and I read where several people there whom I knew, had been greatly helped by taking Tanlac, so I sent all the way to Kentucky for a bottle of this medicine. It wasn't long after that before I noticed that Tanlac could be obtained here, and as the first bottle had been such a wonderful help to me, I just continued to take it until now I am enjoying perfect health again. Well, I have regained almost all I lost in weight. My troubles have been completely overcome, and when night comes now I sleep like a baby, and get up every morning feeling just fine. I have a splendid appetite and eat three hearty meals every day, and never suffer a particle afterwards. I will tell anybody that Tanlac is the best medicine I have ever seen, and am glad to recommend it to everybody."

Tanlac is sold in Santa Ana by Rowley Drug Co., in Fullerton by G. W. Finch, in La Habra by R. H. Hilbert, in Huntington Beach by Rigdon's Pharmacy, in Orange by Dittmer's Mission Pharmacy, in Placentia by A. J. Deserving of Reward.

In "Our Casualty" (Doran) G. A. Birmingham tells one of his famous Irish stories. Lord Dunsverick is questioning a sailor called Ginty about Andrew McMunn, with whom he was about to have dealings. Ginty says: "I've no doubt in my own mind about where Andrew will go when his time comes."

"You think you know him well, then?"

"Ay, I do. It would seem queer if I didn't, seeing that I've sailed his ships this ten years. Andrew McMunn will go to heaven."

"Ah," said Lord Dunsverick, "he's a good man, then?"

"I'll no go as far as to say 'precisely that,' said Ginty, 'but he's a man who never touches a drop of whisky nor smokes a pipe of tobacco. It'll be very hard on him if he doesn't go to heaven after all he's missed in this world.'" — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

SALLEE SERIES POWER BEHIND THE THRONE

Veteran Southpaw Coach For Younger Men Who Gained Fame and Money

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—World's series bouquets have been passed around galore. Pat Moran, boss of the world's champions, has been crowned king of the "Miracle Men" and has received recognition from the club owners with a $5,000 bonus check. Each of the Reds who distinguished himself on the field has had his greatness heralded from the housetops of baseball.

Tribute has been paid to all the heroes but one of them has not received his just dues. When he won the second game of the series, Slim Sallee, the veteran southpaw, was the man of the hour with the rabid baseball populace of the Ohio city. When he was knocked out of the box on his second attempt, the fans kicked down the pedestal upon which they had elevated him and immediately proceeded to forget him.

Eller and Ring

Hod Eller and Jimmie Ring occupy the niche that Cincinnati hearts have set aside for heroes. They are ranked as holders of the master degree of pitching art. In their enthusiasm, fans give little thought to the "power behind the throne," the man who made these young hurlers, who schooled them and taught them the kind of baseball that enabled them to go out and set back the dangerous hitting White Sox.

Pat Moran, master catcher of his day and an artist in handling pitchers, has been credited as the man who took a squad of cast-off, erratic pitchers and moulded them into the best all around corps of moundsmen in years. The ruddy faced Red leader deserves all the credit that has been given him but old Slim Sallee must come in for his share as a lieutenant who perhaps had more to do in bringing these youngsters up through the grades from the kindergarten of their pitching education.

Becomes Godfather

Early in the season Sallee became a self-constituted god-father to Reuther, Ring and Eller. He worked with them, gave them tips on fooling batters that he had picked up in twelve campaigns through the majors. He painted their chances of success so rosy that instead of warming the bench at every opportunity they were out hurling balls over improvised pans at anyone who would receive them, seeking that which Moran most insisted upon—control.

When they started the drive for the pennant, the veteran increased his vigilance. From the dugout he coached them over the rough places until they had learned enough to fight their own battles. But he remained as the "confidential adviser." When they warmed up previous to their world's series starts, Slim was at their side and when they went out and distinguished themselves they were no more pleased than was their old teacher.

Some say that the old veteran's baseball days are over. But it is safe to assert that his services with Moran will not cease even after the old trusty left arm has shot its wad. Slim has earned a life-time berth with the Red leader if he wants it.

What Do Advertisements Mean to You?

Do you really appreciate what the advertisements mean to you? They are not there to flaunt this man's and that man's selfish plans for profit.

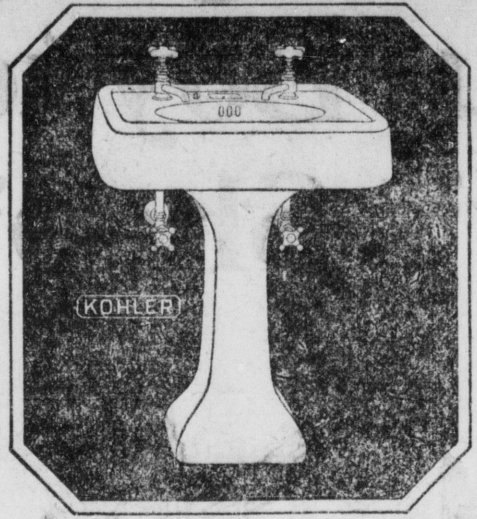

The advertisement of today is the honest merchant's or manufacturer's best method of multiplying by thousands of times an interesting message. He has learned from long experience—his own and that of others—that what he has to say must prove interesting and satisfactory to you, else it were better left unsaid. He has learned that his advertising will not pay him unless it tells you about good things that you really want to have.

This is why you will find it profitable to read the advertisements regularly. Perhaps you do. But read them with an appreciation of just what the development of honest, truthful advertising has meant in smoothing out some of the kinks of your daily routine.

Think how much they save you in time, steps, trouble and money in buying things you must have to live a healthy, happy, comfortable, modern life.

DOOMED MAN TO GIVE YOUTH TO AGED

Another Operation Will Be Performed After San Quentin Hanging

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 4.—When Antonio Lapara, a handsome Italian of 29, is hanged here on December 19, the youth that has put the spring in his step and the resonance in his voice will be transferred in a measure from his dead body to the living body of one of the old men prisoners.

The means employed will be the surgeon's knife, and the surgeon will transplant interstitial glands of Lapara to the old man's body.

This will be the eleventh operation of this nature performed at the prison by Dr. L. L. Stanley, the prison physician, and Dr. C. Stanley Kelker, his assistant.

All of the ten previous operations have given a measure of youth to the old men who received the glands. They have created something of a sensation in the medical world.

The old man will be chosen from a score of volunteers who have faith in the operation and desire to tap the fountain of youth.

Has Great Vitality
The doctors believe that with the glands goes nothing of the nature that caused Lapara to commit his crime against society. Lapara is sentenced for a blackhand murder. He called an Italian to the door of his home in San Francisco and shot him to death with a shotgun. Lapara is a big man of great vitality, and the doctors are waiting with considerable interest to see what measure of this vitality they can transfer to the feeble body of the prisoner to be chosen.

"Much of the faith in the operation results from the changed appearance of a prisoner to be known as 'B,' who daily is seen in the prison yard."

"B" is 73 years old. Before the operation he was old in every respect. His face bore deep wrinkles, and his step was feeble. He was old also in spirit. His face bore a hopeless look, according to other prisoners, and his figure was stooped. Now he carries himself with assurance, and professes to have renewed youth. Many of his wrinkles have disappeared. He has lost the timid attitude of an old man and speaks with a deep and assured voice.

Record of Physician
Here is published for the first time excerpts taken from the official record of Dr. Stanley, who implanted reproductive interstitial glands in "B's" body:

"B" is 73 years old. He was never married. On pleading guilty to a crime indicating perversion, he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

"B" was received at San Quentin in October, 1917, at which time his weight was 126 pounds, age 70. He had been a bank clerk and rancher. "At this time physical examination showed him to be bald, pale, hearing impaired, most of his teeth missing, poorly nourished and poorly developed. Otherwise in fair condition."

"He readily consented to the transplantation, which was performed on June 20, 1919."

"The donor in this case was a half breed Indian boy, age 19 years, who was hanged for the murder of a saloon man."

"Within half an hour after the hanging, the operation was performed. Local anaesthesia of novocain one-fourth per cent. was used. There was no pain. (Stanley used the spinal anaesthesia.)"

Notes of Ward Visits
"The following notes were made at ward visits:
"June 21—Wound slightly sore. No marked change since operation.
"June 22—Feels better this morning.
"June 23—Feels fine. Wound clean. (Here the record describes marked changes in the patient's physical condition.)
"June 24—Notes similar to June 23. Regular diet.
"June 25—The nurse in his chart notes as follows: 'Patient since operation has improved mentally and physically. Eyes are brighter, and he is more active mentally and physically than a man many years his junior. Appetite excellent. Nerves are steadier.'

"Before the operation, 'B' was naturally reticent, but now is positively emphatic. Summing up the whole demeanor of the patient six days after the operation, he has more pep and jazz and increased mental energy than most men many years younger. At ward rounds the patient remarked that he felt like a fighting cock. He said he wanted to get out to hit someone."

The patient, according to the record, was able to be up on July 10. Incorporated in the record is a letter from "B" in which he states he is quite sure he has received a new lease on life and that it will be of permanent value.

"B" today told the United Press, over four months following the operation, that he felt like a young man. There was nothing retiring about him.

"I hope to be paroled from prison," he said, "and if I am, I shall marry if I find the right woman."

AWARDED HERO MEDAL
SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 5.—Charles G. Mayer, assistant superintendent of the C. K. G. Billings home place here, has been awarded a Carnegie medal for heroic rescue of Mrs. May Cuthbert and Miss Maude Williams, sisters, and magazine writers of Riverside, after they had been lost for two days and a half in Santa Anita canyon, among the Sierra Madre mountains.

Greater Loss
"My husband plagues me by telling me that he could have married an heiress."

"A small matter," declared the Turkish lady. "Now mine tells me he could have married at least six."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

JACOB ROSS, OLD RESIDENT HERE IS DEAD

Was Member First Board of Supervisors Orange County and Second Assessor

Former owner of a large tract of land in Santa Ana, a member of the first Board of Supervisors of Orange County and the second assessor of the county, and for the last few years claiming residence in other sections of Southern California, Jacob Ross today is dead, his body being at the Mission Funeral Home awaiting burial tomorrow in the city where his early life passed and where at one time his father owned the land that formed the original townsite.

Jacob Ross passed away Monday at 10:30 p.m., at his residence 129 N. avenue 19, Los Angeles. He was 71 years old. He is survived by his wife, four sons and one daughter, A. R. Ross of Bisbee, Ariz., L. E. Ross of Sacramento; George Virgil and M. F. Ross, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Etta M. Dickinson of Needles. Funeral services will be held here at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. All of his children are expected to be here for the funeral.

The deceased came to what is now Orange county in 1868 with his parents, who came here from the Parajo valley, near Watsonville, Cal. His father, Jacob Ross, Sr., purchased 501 acres here at $8 per acre, and before he secured a deed to it passed it over to W. H. Spurgeon who came a little later and established Santa Ana on a portion of the tract.

The deceased in the early days owned a large tract of land lying between Ross and Baker streets, a portion of which he later subdivided into city lots, and which is known as the Ross addition to Santa Ana, embracing parts of West second and Third streets.

He was a member of the first Board of Supervisors, 1889-91, the county being organized in 1889. He had previously served as a supervisor in Los Angeles county. He was assessor of Orange county from 1891 to 1895, embracing two two-year terms.

He was a brother of Mrs. S. T. McNeal, 104 N. Baker, and Samuel Ross, who is now living with her daughter, Mrs. Ida King at Irvine. Mrs. Ross is a sister of Mrs. Leopold Goepper of Balboa.

RILEY AND CONGER BOTH CONSIDERED

The Sacramento Star of recent issue has the following:

Political dopesters at the Capitol are advancing many theories as to reason for Governor Stephens' delay in naming a successor to the late Philip D. Wilson, who was a member of the State Board of Equalization from the fourth district, which comprises Southern California.

The Governor's office passes out the word that there is no need of immediate action as the work of the board for the year has been completed. But the dopesters are not willing to accept this excuse.

One story going the rounds is to the effect that the Governor desires to wait until the Supreme Court passes upon the constitutionality of the new Real Estate Commission act so as to protect R. L. Riley of Colton whom he named Real Estate Commissioner, in case the act is knocked out.

Riley first was appointed to the Water Commission by Governor Stephens, but when the legislature reduced the commission to one member, the Governor took care of Riley by handing him the Real Estate Commission plum, or will it be a "prune"?

Also there is in circulation a report that W. S. Conger of San Bernardino, Superintendent of the Capitol, is dissatisfied with his job primarily because of the fact that it pays only $3,000 a year when he was promised a $4,000 job. It is said that considerable pressure is being brought to bear in Conger's favor. Since his appointment months ago Conger has not been at the Capitol more than two weeks at all.

Then, too, there are thirty or forty candidacies out for the appointment. Prominently mentioned among the list of candidates is Mrs. Wilson, widow of the late board member. She is said to have very strong Los Angeles backing.

And so the watchful waiting goes on!

Will Nuxated Iron Help Men Of Today Gain Strength And Endurance Like Athletes of Old?

Physician Says "Yes"—Cites Case of

Jack Dempsey, Heavyweight Champion of the World
SUPERMAN OF THE AGE

Who Used Nuxated Iron as a Part of the Training Which Gave Him Such Marvelous Physical Development That He Was Able To Whip The Mighty Jess Willard—

To every man who lacks physical strength and energy there comes a longing at times to possess the power and endurance of an athlete, yet they go on struggling through life weak, nervous and run-down, when in reality their trouble may be nothing more than lack of sufficient iron in the blood.

Had they not kept their blood rich in iron the athletes of old might never have achieved such fame. It is the opinion of Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, who believes that modern men who are fagged out by worry, work and other strains might readily build up their strength, energy and endurance by increasing the supply of iron in their blood.

As an example of the superb physical condition that may be obtained by a man of today who follows proper methods of living and keeps his blood filled with strengthening iron, Dr. Sullivan cites the case of Jack Dempsey, who used Nuxated Iron as a part of the training which gave him such marvelous development that he is now recognized as the Superman of the Age and perhaps the superior of any famous athlete of ancient times. In connection with his use of Nuxated Iron, Dempsey says: "Nuxated Iron not added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo. From the results in my own case, and the necessary of super endurance is necessary, I feel that I am in a position to strongly recommend Nuxated Iron to every man and woman who wants to build greater strength, energy and power."

In commenting on the following statement made by Dempsey, Dr. Sullivan says: "It should occur to every thinking person that if a man is physically fit as Dempsey should consider it advisable to take Nuxated Iron. How much more important it is for the average man or woman to see that there is no lack of iron in the blood. In my opinion, the men of today who want to live more and more successful must either live more as did the athletes of old or else supply the iron deficiencies in their blood by taking some form of modern iron—Nuxated Iron. I have used Nuxated Iron in my practice and I know of nothing more effective for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles, thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease."

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day, after meals, for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance, which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood.

While many another has gone down to ignominious defeat simply for lack of iron. Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is prescribed and recommended above, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older iron products it is easily assimilated, does not irritate the stomach, and does not cause constipation. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

During the season just ending this county shipped 10,907 cars of oranges, or nearly a third of the Southern California crop. The estimate for the season 1919-20 is for 10,718 cars. As the oranges increased in size the volume of the crop became more apparent, until now the estimate calls for nearly as large a crop as last year. Following is the detailed estimate of the orange crop by districts:

DISBURSEMENTS IN OCTOBER $336,692

Of $238,692.98, which went into the treasury of Orange county during the month of October, $228,000 was received on the delivery of the remainder of the $550,000 harbor bond issue, according to a report which County Treasurer J. C. Joplin had ready to day for delivery to the board of supervisors and to the county auditor. Disbursements during the month just passed totalled $336,692.46, of which $150,714.72 went to the various schools of the county for payment of teachers' salaries, repairs to school buildings and other expenses incidental to school administration. The largest item among disbursements was $120,992.74, which was turned back to the personal property rebate fund.

THREE PARTIES
ARE GREATLY ENJOYED

School Celebrates, Crane Sisters Entertain, and Prof. Hall Has Pretty Affair

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Nov. 5.—Thursday evening Misses Mary and Flotele Crane entertained a large number of school friends at a delightful Halloween party. The affair, which was held in a vacant house, which was decorated in corn stalks and witches and lighted by grinning Jack o' lanterns, everything was carried out in the most approved of "spooky" styles and a thrill followed every move of the evening. Numerous games appropriate to the Halloween season were played down stairs where also the delicious refreshments of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, apples and punch were served by the hostess.

A thrill not on the program came with the appearance of three ghostly visitors who silently appealed for admittance and as silently passed among the guests then stealthily passed out, and, after an inspection of the machines faded away.

A thriller accorded the guests was that of hunting for hidden treasures when they were traced upstairs where in pitchy darkness they groped their way about the abandoned rooms and discovered ghostly reminders in a closet.

The Halloween guests included Neil Bradbury, Misses Lizzie, Mary, Agnes and Ethel Gothard, Avery Renneck, Teddy Tarbox, Margaret French, Loren Maddux, Albert Maddux, Donald Gilchrist, Gordon Talbert, Miss Margaret Ames, Miss Margaret Wright, Miss Ethel Morgan, Chas. Cook, Clarence Hardy, Tom Hardy, Alice Mayer, Roy Morgan, Frank Houser, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Graham, Mrs. Harry Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Crane and S. J. Crane.

A party of Friday afternoon was devoted by the two intermediate rooms and the primary room of the Oceanview school to the observance of Halloween. Miss Dwyer's pupils enshrouded in sheets paid a ghostly visit to the other rooms and later spent some time telling stories, some of which they themselves had written.

Miss Jordan gave her pupils a treat of lemonade for the occasion and in the primary room the little folks enjoyed some special Halloween fea-

- This announcement of the INDIAN line for 1920 heralds a new era in motorcycle history.
- Never before has the motorcycle loomed so large on the horizon of the world's scheme of transportation necessities—sportive, recreative and strictly utilitarian.
- In the convulsion of man and mechanical power during the World War no one device of engineering and productive skill stood the test of utility and practicability more strikingly than did the motorcycle.

—And the lessons of the frightful tests to which INDIANS as well as all other motorcycles were subjected have been driven home in the minds of engineers, designers and even to the last mechanic, with the result that the INDIAN line for 1920 stands forth as a refreshed giant, wise in experience and determined to meet the task the world's demands have set for accomplishment.

—And as an evidence of this set determination the INDIAN heralds the new season with the INDIAN SCOUT, the new middleweight that will clinch INDIAN leadership, so proudly held since the very inception of the industry.

—Add to this model many radical changes and refinements in the world-famous INDIAN POWERPLUS and other standard models, and the INDIAN 1920 line as a whole splendidly reflects all that is progressive in motorcycling to meet a greater and ever growing demand that is world wide.
